TEXAS COAST DISASTERS.

DESTRUCTION OF INDIANOLA.

BETWEEN ONE AND TWO HUNDRED LIVES LOST—TERRIBLE SUFFERINGS OF THE SURVIVORS—REMARKABLE ESCAPES—THE COAST STREWN WITH BODIES OF MEN, WOMEN, AND CHILDREN—ACCOUNTS GIVEN BY EYE-WITNESSES.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 21.—Superintendent Clowry, of the Western Union Telegraph Company, communicates to Gen. Anson Stager as follows:

A Morgan steam-ship has just arrived at Galveston and reports the town of Indianola, Texas, almost entirely destroyed. The light-houses, wharves, and nearly every house have been swept away, and 100 to 150 lives lost. The steamer could find no place to land her cargo.

Later.—Additional accounts of the Indianola disaster say the loss of life and suffering are terrible.

Dead bodies are strewn for twenty miles along the beach.

The citizens here are organizing for the relief of the sufferers, and will send them food and clothing.

Over one hundred bodies had been found and buried up to the time the steamer left.

Mr. Sanborn, manager of the telegraph office, is reported safe, but the office is destroyed and the lines down for miles.

GALVESTON, Texas, Sept. 21.—The Purser of the steamer Harlan, which has just arrived, states that the town of Indianola was almost entirely destroyed by the late cyclone. Light-houses, wharves, business houses, and dwellings were broken to pieces or swept away. There are only three houses remaining which are not damaged.

The telegraph office is gone, the signal office damaged, and the telegraph lines down for miles.

The railroads are washed away, and houses and trees are piled up in broken masses in the streets.

The reports of loss of life are conflicting, but all agree there were from one hundred to one hundred and fifty lives lost. The Purser states that, on account of the great excitement, it was impossible to obtain the correct number.

The steamer returned with her cargo and goods, as there was no place where she could land.

FURTHER PARTICULARS OF THE CALAMITY—APPEALS FOR RELIEF—ACCOUNTS GIVEN BY SURVIVORS.

GALVESTON, Texas, Sept. 21.—The Morgan steamer Harlan came into port this morning with her colors at half-mast. A large crowd gathered on the wharf to learn the fate of Indianola. The destruction there is almost complete. Only five business houses are left standing. These are H. Zeligsen & Co.'s, H. Runge & Co.'s, D. Sullivan & Co.'s, Cassimir Villeneuve's, and D. H. Regan's. The people are suffering for food and clothing. The beach for twenty miles is strewn with dead bodies. The following note has been received:

INDIANOLA, Sept. 20.

To Editors News:

We are destitute. The town is gone. One quarter of the people are gone. Dead bodies are strewn for twenty miles along the bay. Nine-tenths of the houses are destroyed. Send us help, for God's sake.

(Signed,) D. W. CRAM,
District Attorney.

A FEARFUL NIGHT.

The following was received by business firms here from their correspondents in Indianola: "On Wednesday, the 15th inst., the winds were from eastward, veering to north. On Thursday forenoon they became more steady and increased to a gale. The water was waist deep. Every man, woman, and child was seeking a place of safety. The wind blew fearfully and the situation was awful. The screams of women and children could be heard in every direction. The water was six feet deep on the streets. About 2 o'clock Friday morning the wind veered to north-west. The waves then became chopped, and houses were washed away or tumbled to pieces. The wind toward daylight began to lull a little, and the water was getting lower until the wind veered north. Then came hope until daylight began to break, and then did we behold the awful destruction around and thanked our God that we had been saved, and that our perilous condition was as nothing compared with the sufferings of our neighbors and the citizens along the bay. Broad daylight revealed a scene that was terrible to behold. The town could not be recognized as the Indianola of the day previous. Ruin, total ruin, everywhere. People were seen walking and jumping over one gully and another. Neighbor met neighbor and told the troubles and tribulations of the previous night. Death and destruction all around us. Houses crushed to the ground; others swayed round and leaning over. The wind finally dying down and the water disappearing from places in the street.

Those that could sallied out to learn the news. Bodies of men, women, and children were found in all directions. Police and guards were organized and search was made for missing relatives and friends. How many have lost their lives in this fearful storm it is impossible to learn, but up to this time sixty or seventy bodies have been found and buried.

Women were found, and men also, who had floated off on doors or anything they could get hold of, miles away. Some were beneath the roofs carried away long distances. The escape of so many of our citizens is almost marvelous. The search for bodies is still going on, and the number of human beings drowned will never be known, as there were a large number of strangers in town. We estimate the number of lives lost at 150.

SOME OF THE LOSSES.

H. J. Huck lost everything but his house; W. Westhoff lost all his lumber; H. Runge & Co. and Sullivan lost heavily; Mr. Paget lost 2,500 sheep; J. Mitchell's stock of goods was lost.

NAMES OF SOME OF THE DEAD.

Dr. John H. Leake, Mr. A. Coffin, his mother, and family; nearly all of Mr. J. Morrison's household, twenty-one in number, and Rev. Mr. Jope and family perished. Eighteen bodies were found yesterday, and the search will be continued until all the dead are deposited in their last resting place. You cannot imagine the full extent of the disaster. Nothing short of its full details will give you a proper knowledge.

INCIDENTS.

A number of persons were out on rafts for hours, and in many cases were saved.

William Taylor, on trial for murder, was let out of jail to prevent his being drowned, and made his escape.

All the churches in the town are swept away; so is the Masonic Lodge. The Court-house is saved.

Out of fifty-five persons, Capt. Samuel Brown and two of his family only are saved. They took refuge in the light-house. Brown is now the only surviving pilot at the Pass.

All of Capt. Decron's family at Decrons' Point were lost.

Great destitution prevails. The Victoria people, hearing of it, nobly sent assistance at once. Out of the entire force of pilots only one at Indianola is alive. Manager Sanborn, of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is reported safe, but the office is utterly destroyed.

Information from Corpus Christi reports that town safe. It escaped the heavy gale.

The town of Saluria is entirely washed away.

The telegraph lines are prostrated for miles.

The citizens of Galveston are organizing for the relief of the survivors at Indianola, and clothing will be sent there."

ACCOUNTS IN THE NEW-ORLEANS PAPERS.

NEW-ORLEANS, La., Sept. 21.—The Bulletin extra has the following regarding Indianola:

The first of the storm, it seems, carried away the telegraph lines, and thus communication between Galveston and Indianola was cut off. Indianola is situated on Matagorda Bay, and there is no protection in front of it. It has about one thousand inhabitants, and the loss, it seems, is fully one-fifth. Fears are entertained that Rockport, Matagorda, and Corpus Christi have suffered. Away over two hundred lives are lost. The steamer could not discharge. (Signed,) SOLOMON LEVI.

A Picayune extra has the following:

SABINE PASS, via ORANGE, Sept. 21.

The city is submerged, and considerable damage has been done to wharves and buildings by the terrific storm through which we have just passed. Much loss of stock is reported, and crops in the surrounding country have been considerably injured, but no loss of life, happily, has so far been reported.

DISASTERS TO VESSELS.

The little mail steamer Pelican State was wrecked in Sabine Lake, but the passengers and crew were saved.

A pilot-boat was damaged two miles back in the marsh, and many small craft were blown off and capsized.

Capt. Gibbs, of the schooner Truman, from New-York, for Indianola, with an assorted cargo, arrived here to-day and reports his schooner ashore fifteen miles west of the Pass and a total loss. The gale caught him off the Passes of the Mississippi and he lost his reckoning. The crew were in the rigging for twelve hours, but were all saved.

FEARS FOR THE SAFETY OF CALCASIEU.

No news has been received from Calcasieu, but the worst is feared, as much lighter gales have in the past swept the place, with much loss of life.

THE STORM AT GALVESTON.

LATER ACCOUNTS OF THE DESTRUCTION OF PROPERTY—THE LOSS OF LIFE BUT FIVE IN THE CITY.

NEW-ORLEANS, Sept. 21.—The following press dispatch was received to-day, showing the extent of the damage by the storm on Galveston Island and vicinity:

GALVESTON, Sept. 21.—On Friday, between the hours of 1 and 5, was the most trying period during the storm. From the eastern point of the island down to Twentieth street, the water crossed from the Gulf to the Bay, through the streets. The water was from a foot to eighteen inches deep in the yards through the central portion of the city. Along the business streets the water was not as high as in 1867—the streets had been since raised—consequently but little damage was done to goods or buildings. From the eastern portion of the island along the Gulf houses were damaged and about twenty or twenty-five blown down and destroyed. The Collins estate, foot of Tremont street, was badly damaged, and the house partly destroyed. The street-car stables at the terminus were destroyed. The Allen cottage, below Tremont, was destroyed. In this vicinity a large number of houses were damaged, some of them blown over and the fences and trees washed away. Below on the island, for ten or twelve miles, scarcely a house remains. In the western portion of the city the water was two or three feet in depth, but the damage to the residences was but trifling, as the sand bluff broke the force of the waves from the Gulf. The street car tracks in that part of the city around the gas-works were badly damaged. The water, however, did not reach the platforms nor damage goods. The damage to cotton presses is estimated at $20,000.

Friday about 10 A. M. the wind shifted to south-west, blowing hard. Toward night it changed to north, and during the night blew the water off the island. On Saturday morning the streets were dry in nearly every portion of the city. The loss of life as near as can be ascertained is five in the city and at the point.

The damage to property in the city is estimated at $200,000, and this is as nearly correct an estimate as can be made. The serious loss is damage to railroads and bay bridges. The wharves were only slightly damaged.

The surgeon of the steam-ship Australian, ashore at San Bernardino, reports every house at San Bernardino washed away. All but five of the people reached the steamer and were saved.

Near Red Fish Point the Government dredge-boats injured three ships in the channel. The dredge-boats sank at Morgan's Point. Two dredge-boats and two tug-boats are ashore. The dispatch steamer Laura sank. No lives were lost in Morgan's fleet. Not a house was left standing on Buffalo Bayou, where the water was ten feet above ordinary tides.

The families and persons saved at Lynchburg are on board the steamers now running between Galveston and Houston.

A large force of men are working on the rail-road bridges, and trains will be running in a week.

DESTRUCTION OF OTHER TOWNS.

MOTAGORDA WASHED AWAY—TWO HOUSES STANDING—CEDAR LAKE SWEPT OFF, AND ALL THE INHABITANTS DROWNED—RELIEF MEETINGS.

NEW-ORLEANS, Sept. 21.—Later information received here from the Texan coast, is to the effect that the town of Matagorda was swept away. Only two houses remain standing.

The town of Cedar Lake was completely washed away and all the people lost.

A public meeting of citizens was held this evening and was largely attended. Many of those present liberally subscribed to aid the Indianola and other sufferers. A steamer will leave here to-morrow morning with provisions and clothing.

Information received from East Bay states the suffering among the people is terrible. Out of twenty-eight human beings only five are known to be alive.

THE TOWN OF INDIANOLA.

DESCRIPTION OF THE PLACE WITH ITS COMMERCE AND TRADE.

Indianola is the county town of Calhoun County, and is the port of entry of the District of Saluria. It is situated on the west shore of Matagorda Bay, twenty-five miles from the Gulf, and distant about one hundred and twenty miles from Galveston. The town contains between two and three thousand inhabitants, and is built immediately on the shore of the bay, upon a level beach of white shell sand, behind which a perfectly level prairie extends for many miles. It is the terminus of the Western Texas and Pacific Railway, which is to connect it with Austin, the capital of the State, and with San Antonio. This road, which is now completed to Cuero, a distance of seventy-five miles, and which it is thought will soon be finished, has added much to the commercial importance of the place by attracting the population of the neighboring towns of Port Lanaca, Old Town, and Powder Horn, which were built before the location of the terminus of the road had been decided upon. As a port of entry it is next in importance to Galveston, all the trade with San Antonio and the surrounding country, as well as that with New-Mexico, via San Antonio, passing through it. The buildings are all of wood, the majority of them being built upon piles, on account of the dampness of the sand, which is saturated with the salt-water of the bay. The inhabitants are principally commission and forwarding merchants, small shop-keepers and traders and their employés. The houses being nearly all white, the town presented a neat and pretty appearance from the bay and surrounding country. The facilities for shipping and receiving goods are ample, as several long wharves have been built, which extend far into the bay, alongside which all vessels whose draft of water permits them to cross the bar, at the entrance to the harbor, can come. Besides the receipt and shipment of goods in Indianola, there is a large business done in packing and preserving beef, and in slaughtering cattle for their hides and tallow. In the last-named business the animals are killed, their hides, horns, and hoofs removed, the carcasses placed in large drums, the tallow separated, and the flesh and bones converted into manure by the admission of superheated steam. Steamers of the Morgan Line run to New-Orleans four times a week, touching at Galveston on their way. The commerce is important, as besides the regular business done by the steamers there is a large trade carried on with the principal commercial ports of the country by means of coasting vessels. The exports are cattle, hides, tallow, wool, cotton, preserved beef, and the manure spoken of above. The imports embrace all kinds of manufactured goods and a large amount of lumber. At Pass Cavallo, the entrance from the Gulf to Matagorda Bay, there is a large light-house, and at different points between the Pass and the town there are three more.

THE BLACK HILLS.

OPENING OF THE COUNCIL FOR THE CESSION OF THE INDIAN LANDS.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

RED CLOUD AGENCY, Wyoming, Sept. 20, via Fort Laramie, Sept. 21.—The Indian Council opens to-day on White River, below the mouth of White Earth Creek. The Indians will be asked to cede mining rights on the Black Hills, and to sell the Big Horn Mountain country, the payment for the lease or purchase to be made in useful annuities, to encourage stock-raising and civilization. The council was delayed by the Ogallallas, who desire that it should be held in the stockade at Red Cloud Agency.

Dispatch to the Associated Press.

CHEYENNE, Wyoming Territory, Sept. 21.—The Treaty Council near the Red Cloud Agency held its first session on Saturday. After much wrangling among the Indians as to the locality where the council should be held, Gen. Terry, on the part of the Commissioners, selected the ground near Crow Buttes, and the Indians were notified that this selection was final. Gen. Bradley, Col. Stanton, Capt. Mix and other officers arrived at Camp Robinson on Thursday, and Capt. Mills' company of Third Cavalry was immediately ordered from Camp Sheridan to Red Cloud, so that the force at Red Cloud now consists of three companies of cavalry and four of infantry. Lieut. Vroom, with Company L, Third Cavalry, was ordered to escort Col. Stanton to Spotted Tail, and thence on his expedition into the Northern Bad Lands.

LOSSES BY FIRE.

A carriage factory owned and occupied by F. W. Swift, and a blacksmith shop owned by Theodore Gould and occupied by John Duffy, at Mount Vernon, were totally destroyed by fire about 2 o'clock yesterday morning. Mr. Swift's loss is estimated at about $3,000, fully covered by insurance. The building owned by Mr. Gould was insured for $1,200, which, it is believed, fully covers the loss. Mr. Duffy estimates his loss at $500, upon which he has no insurance.

A fire broke out last evening in the silver-ware manufactory of the Whiting Manufacturing Company, at North Attleboro, Mass., and it was entirely destroyed. The loss is estimated at $100,000. Most of the stock was in the vaults, which it is hoped are fire-proof; if not, the loss will be much greater. The building was also occupied by F. S. Draper & Co. and Smith & Ginnods, jewelry manufacturers, who lose about $15,000 each. All the losses are pretty well insured. Three hundred men are thrown out of employment owing to the fire.

At 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon a fire occurred on the second floor of No. 127 Waverley place, occupied by Charles Craig as a pork-packing establishment, caused by a ham falling into the fire in the smoke-house. Damage, $500.

A fire at Deerfield, Mass., yesterday morning destroyed the house and barn of Elijah C. Allen. Loss, $10,000; partially insured.

POLITICAL AFFAIRS.

THE CAMPAIGN IN OHIO.

GEN. STEWART L. WOODFORD AT YOUNGSTOWN AGAIN—A HARD-MONEY LETTER FROM A CLEVELAND COAL AND IRON MAN.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, Sept. 21.—Gen. Stewart L. Woodford, by special request, returned to Youngstown to-night, where he made his first speech in Ohio two weeks ago. He is addressing an audience of 600 or 700 in the opera-house, and is evidently making a deep impression. His first speech here did great good, turning back to hard-money principles many who were wavering. The prospects in this county have improved greatly during the last two weeks.

To-day Gen. Woodford received the following open letter from a son of the late Gov. Tod, who is largely interested in Youngstown manufactures:

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Sept 21, 1875.

To Hon. Stewart L. Woodford:

MY DEAR SIR: I regret that I cannot go with you to my native city of Youngstown, where all my business interests, of coal and iron, are located, and attend the meeting you are to address this evening. I wish to aid the Republican Party of Ohio as far as I can in its efforts to dispose of the Democratic idea of inflation. The only true way to relieve the present embarrassed condition of the country is to return to a specie basis at the earliest practicable moment, because, until money has an absolute and certain value, business cannot be conducted on fixed business principles, but is simply gambling.

Yours truly, JOHN TOD.

CARL SCHURZ AND THE CURRENCY QUESTION.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Sept. 21.—The following is the call addressed to Hon. Carl Schurz, asking him to address the people on financial matters, and his reply:

CINCINNATI, Sept. 20.

Hon. Carl Schurz:

SIR: The main question under discussion, in view of the approaching election in this State, is whether the country shall advance or recede in the road to specie payments. The popular decision will assuredly have a serious influence upon political organizations, business interests, and public policy. We are mindful of your superb arguments in the Senate on behalf of a sound currency, and as merchants and business men we invite you to come to Ohio, and present in public speeches your views upon the cause at issue, which we esteem to be that of national honor and common honesty.

Mr. Schurz's reply was as follows:

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 20.

GENTLEMEN: I simply obey a call of duty in complying with your invitation. I shall be ready to address the citizens of Cincinnati on the evening of Monday, Sept. 27. C. SCHURZ.

THE MASSACHUSETTS DEMOCRATS.

GETTING READY FOR THEIR CONVENTION AT WORCESTER TO-DAY—THE LIBERAL REPUBLICANS TO BE RECOGNIZED—A HARD MONEY PLATFORM CERTAIN.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WORCESTER, Mass., Sept. 21.—The State Democratic Convention, to be held here to-morrow, will be one of the largest ever held in Massachusetts, and will be largely composed of representatives of the best elements of the party. A large number of delegates are here to-night, and the preparations are completed, so that the work of the day may be promptly begun.

Prominent in the deliberations to-night is Frank W. Bird, the leader of the small party of Liberal Republicans of the State who have formally announced their intention of working this year with the Democrats. It is proposed to recognize them, and also bid for votes of those Republicans upon whom the party bonds rest lightly, by putting one or two Liberals on the State ticket. Gaston will head the ticket, receiving the nomination with a rush, but a second place will be given to a Liberal, and that Liberal Gen. W. F. Bartlett, who brought himself conspicuously to the front by his famous speech at Lexington for reconciliation on the occasion of the centennial celebration. The only objection to his nomination is the uncertainty of his acceptance, but there are those here who profess to speak for him, and by authority that he will accept. The platform will, very likely, be patterned somewhat after the New-York Democratic platform. It will be for hard money, reform, retrenchment, and reconciliation. State issues will be recognized in the indorsement of the License law. The only controversy is over the choice of delegates at large to the National Presidential Convention, but in this there is an absence of all bitterness.

Among the prominent Democrats here to-night are the newly-elected Democratic Congressmen Tarbox and Thompson, Butler's successor, who are to be on the Committee on Platform, and here, also, Frank Bird is placed. The town, considering the fact that there are several hundred delegates to a Democratic Convention here, is remarkably quiet. Vice President Wilson is in town, looking quietly about, and Dr. Loring gets around on his way home from an agricultural show to-morrow.

MASSACHUSETTS REPUBLICANS.

WORCESTER, Mass., Sept. 21.—At the Republican caucuses this evening thirty delegates to the State Convention were chosen, all of whom, with possibly two or three exceptions, desire the nomination of Charles Francis Adams.

THE LIBERAL STATE CONVENTION

DELEGATES ARRIVING—THE COMMITTEE UNDECIDED WHETHER TO PUT UP A TICKET OR MERELY DECLARE PRINCIPLES.

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 21.—Quite a number of delegates to the Liberal State Convention, which meets here to-morrow, have already reached the city. Among them are the following: Gen. Charles Hughes, of Washington County; Hon. W. W. Rockwell, of Warren; Dr. D. Rogers, of Queens; Hon. H. C. Lake, of Chautauqua; Neil Cook, of St. Lawrence; Col. Freeman, of St. Lawrence; Otto E. C. Guilick, of Oneida; Hon. Archibald M. Bliss, of Kings; Col. Conkling, of New-York; Hon. B. F. Manierre, of New-York; John Cochrane, of New-York; G. H. McKay, of New-York; Christopher Pullman, of New-York; Hugh Nesbitt, of New-York, &c.

The State Committee met this evening at the Delavan House to perfect arrangements for the convention. There was considerable canvassing as to what was best to do in the convention. The majority of those here were decidedly opposed to the nomination or indorsement of any State ticket, and were in favor of only making a declaration of the principles of the organization by the restoration of the Cincinnati platform. The Kings County delegation, or a majority of it, under the lead of Archie Bliss, are in favor of indorsing the Democratic ticket. Others, however, say that if Allen carries Ohio there will be a general stampede in this State for the Republican ticket, as the Democratic Party of this State will stand no chance whatever in the Democratic National Convention next year.

The convention meets at Tweddle Hall to-morrow. There is no excitement, nor any great amount of interest even, and the indications are that the convention will be a small one. Those here say they do not expect any great number and meet only for the purpose of maintaining their organization, leaving their adherents to vote as they please.

NOMINATIONS.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Sept. 21.—The Republican Convention of this city to-day nominated Marvin Canniff for Assemblyman, George W. Dunn for Sheriff, and David L. Brownson for Treasurer.

OSWEGO, N. Y., Sept. 21.—The Republican Senatorial Convention to-day renominated J. H. Selkreg by acclamation.

UTICA, N. Y., Sept. 21.—Hon. Theodore S. Sayre, ex-Mayor of this city, was nominated by the Republicans to-day for Senator from the Nineteenth District, composed of Oneida County.

The Prohibitionists' Convention of this county nominated Prof. Charles Avery, of Kirkland, for State Senator, and also a complete county ticket.

Following are additional Republican nominations in this State:

CATTARAUGUS COUNTY.—For County Judge, A. D. Scott; Treasurer, John Archer; Superintendent of Poor, Charles T. Lunden; Justice of Sessions, M. N. Pratt; Coroner, G. F. Parker.

NIAGARA COUNTY.—For Sheriff, John E. Merritt; Treasurer, S. Curtis Lewis; Coroner, Milton Robinson; Justice of Sessions, Edwin E. Arnold.

FRANKLIN COUNTY.—For Assembly, John I. Gilbert; Treasurer, Daniel I. Stanton; Sheriff, James Stockwell; School Commissioners, S. S. Willard, D. D. D. Dewey.

WASHINGTON COUNTY.—Second District, Assembly, T. J. Potter; School Commissioner, H. Snyder.

THE RED CLOUD INVESTIGATION.

CONCLUSIONS OF THE CHAIRMAN OF THE COMMITTEE—NO EVIDENCE TO SUSTAIN THE CHARGES OF FRAUD—BEEF SUPPLIED AT REASONABLE RATES.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—Gov. Fletcher, Chairman of the Red Cloud Investigating Commission, is working hard upon the report to be submitted to the commission. In conversation to-night he said the general features of the report have been unanimously agreed upon by the commission. In reference to frauds charged in beef contracts, Mr. Fletcher says that at Cheyenne everybody talks about fraud in beef contracts, but inquiry fails to furnish confirmation of the allegations. Many witnesses were examined upon this point, including herders and all classes of contractors, from whom the commission ascertained the cost of cattle in Texas, cost of transportation, and the great risks to which men and cattle are always liable from attacks by Indians, stampeding, &c. From this testimony Gov. Fletcher concludes that the Government is getting beef for the Indians at as reasonable rates as can be expected. A large amount of capital is required to supply cattle to northern Indians, and extensive experience to successfully manage the business. Cattle in large droves suffer great loss if not herded by men familiar with the business and country, and they are always liable to the depredations of marauding Indians. The supply for one year has to be purchased months in advance, and the contractor is required to wait long periods for his pay. For these reasons Gov. Fletcher thinks the contracts for beef could not be made for much less than is now paid, and that the frauds charged are mainly imaginary. He says it is absurd for Prof. Marsh to hold that because the lowest bidder awarded a contract sublets his contract, the Government is thereby robbed of the difference between the amount paid the contractor and that of the subcontractor. He thinks however honest Marsh may be in intention, he has failed to make out a case that would stand in any court. Samuel Walker, he thinks, jumps too hastily to conclusions, and his desire to discover frauds leads him beyond the support of facts.

As to the general policy to be pursued toward the Indians, Fletcher believes the present system is all wrong. The Indians are treated too leniently. The Government is under no obligations to furnish the Sioux rations, yet they are allowed to dictate in the most imperious manner how and where they will receive bounty. In their present location they are hundreds of miles away from the base of all supplies; the cost of transportation is thus made to equal the original cost of food furnished. The Sioux are shut up in a Territory where whites are forbidden to enter, and are schooled in barbarism, instead of civilization. He thinks the Sioux Indians should be removed to the Indian Territory, where produce can be furnished for cost. Their threats to go on the war-path are not worth consideration. They could not exist thirty days without Government rations, and they know this. He would cease issuing rations unless they consent to go where the Government wants them. They will follow their rations without much urging. The Indians should be got together and be held to individual responsibility, and no more treaties should be made with them. The wild Indians should be placed under the Army, and the church should be relieved of the entire Indian business.

The report, of which the above will constitute the main features, will be submitted to the committee at the meeting to be held in New-York Oct. 4. The charges of Prof. Marsh will be regarded as not proven, and, while some mismanagement will be pointed out, no serious reflection will be made on the heads of the Interior Department.

THE WEATHER.

SYNOPSIS AND PROBABILITIES.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22—1 A. M.—The barometer has risen, with clear or partly cloudy weather, northerly to westerly winds, and lower temperature in the Southern, Middle, and New-England States and the Ohio Valley; it is highest in the Mississippi Valley, and has fallen in the North-west, with southerly winds and generally clear and slightly warmer weather. Local rains are reported from the lake region, the New-England coast, and the South-west.

The Cumberland River has risen nine feet and a half at Nashville. The Ohio has risen ten inches at Pittsburg. The Savannah has fallen two feet at Augusta.

PROBABILITIES.

For New-England, the Middle States, and the South Atlantic States, generally clear and cooler weather, with northerly to westerly winds and rising barometer.

For the Gulf States, Tennessee, and the Ohio Valley, clear or partly cloudy weather and rising temperature, rising followed by falling barometer, northerly winds, shifting to easterly and southerly.

For the lake region, local rains, followed by clearing weather, light winds, backing to westerly and southerly, rising followed by falling barometer east of Michigan, and falling barometer in the upper lake region.

For the Upper Mississippi and Lower Missouri Valleys, clear or fair weather, rising temperature, with southerly winds and falling barometer.

RESTORATION TO CITIZENSHIP.

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 21.—Upon inquiry at the Executive Chamber as to the reasons for the restoration of William Conroy to citizenship, it is learned that he was convicted in Orange County in December, 1870, for being accessory after the fact in a case of burglary, and was sentenced to four or five years in the Auburn Prison, where he has served his term. His restoration to citizenship was granted on the application of District Attorney Barnett, of Oneida County, who said it would be of vital importance, as Conroy would be his chief and almost only witness in bringing to light a gang of scoundrels who have been robbing and plundering in Utica and other places for a long time.

CUBAN AFFAIRS.

From Our Own Correspondent.

HAVANA, Thursday, Sept. 16, 1875.

The Diario's fortnightly review of the situation states that military operations will not begin with activity until the latter part of next month, after the arrival of the 10,000 veteran soldiers. The insurgents meanwhile do not hold their hand from committing what destruction they possibly can. It is stated in Spanish reports that the great eagerness of the insurgents to destroy indiscriminately has awakened the patriotism of the country people, and all labor to aid the troops in the extirpation of those who only desire to reduce them all to misery. The insurgents have been quite active in the district of Cienfuegos, and even penetrated as far as Ciego Alonso, burning and sacking. No encounter has occurred during the past fortnight in the Western Villas, and only occasional skirmishes to the rearward of the Trocha. The column which left Ciego de Avila under Lieut. Col Carrion made an extensive reconnoissance of the district toward Guayacanes and El Derramadero, and upon returning through Jicotea was constantly fired upon by the insurgents. In the Rio Grande Hills they had established their Prefecture, and formed quite a town, which was destroyed by the Spaniards. In another skirmish with the rebel forces, who, it is said, were under Pancho Jimenes, the column killed an insurgent, who, from correspondence found on his person, proved to be Facundo Perez, aid to the Pole Carlos Roloff. Another column, which left Moron, captured five mules, with provisions. In the Central Department a Spanish column, operating near Santa Cruz, killed seven insurgents and captured a number of horses and arms. Returning to Puerto Principe, it was attacked by insurgents near Las Guasimas. At the "Contramaestre" it was again attacked by a body of insurgents, which the Spanish reports state was 300 mounted and 200 infantry, but were kept in check by the Guerrilleros of the column until the infantry could come up, which, under command of Major Alejo Laborda, soon put them to flight, leaving on the field eight killed, several horses, and one musket. "Presentations," although few in number and of slight importance, continue to be reported throughout the Camaguey District. Its commanding General, Brigadier Ampudia, has returned to Puerto Principe, after conferring with the Captain General and getting a number of horses. The news from the Eastern Department is scanty. The French corvette Seine and English gun-boat Dryad had touched at Santiago de Cuba, and then sailed for Guantanamo. Report states that the Spanish Government found the Captain of the French vessel a very accommodating and amiable old gentleman, but his countrymen and Consul thought him worse than useless. Not one of the Guantanamo prisoners was released, and nothing was done in the Rigandeau affair. The Government had embargoed the estate which belonged to the murdered man and his brothers. Rigandeau had not even been accused of any crime. Nevertheless, they murdered him, and now confiscate his property. The insurgent chieftain Maceo is giving Col. Valera and Gen. Marin considerable trouble. Private advices from Santiago de Cuba state that on the 4th inst. the insurgents made their appearance about eighteen miles from the city, to the number of six or seven hundred strong. The Governor had started up the railroad with all the forces he could muster. Numerous reports were current regarding the landing of expeditions, but it is currently believed that the insurgents had effected one landing near Baracoa, and also another near Cape Cruz, and no doubt was entertained that one of them proceeded from the Octavia or Uruguay. On Monday, the 6th, the train from Guantanamo to La Caimanera was attacked by the insurgents, but succeeded in getting back to Guantanamo. It is the Cuban report that the insurgents are concentrating in force in this district for the purpose of capturing the city, and that the Spanish troops are too few in number to risk any engagements with a large body of insurgents. But such reports cannot be relied upon to any extent.

IMPORTATION OF POTATOES.

The Government has raised the prohibition it had laid upon the importation of potatoes into its dominions, by approving the resolution of the Governor General of Cuba to permit the importation into this island, but under the conditions that all shipments must appear in the manifest of the vessel's cargo, duly certified by the Spanish Consul at the port of shipment, and as a final requirement before permitting their entry for consumption here each barrel must be inspected by an officer of the Board of Health, in order not to affect the public health. For this latter service a fee of fifty cents per barrel will be allowed, which will yield a greater, because surer, profit to the inspectors than to either exporter or importer. The ruling price is $22 and $23 per barrel.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

The Casino Español is to inaugurate next Sunday a series of monthly matinée concerts, to be given by its members.

OPERATIONS OF THE POLICE.

The Police made a raid on a gambling den last Saturday night, and a number of persons engaged in playing lo prohibido, as monte is called, were arrested. The Police took away all their money, getting some $8,007 in Spanish bank bills and $637 50 in gold, which the Captain General has ordered to be expended in purchasing revolvers for the new battalion of Orden Publico. I am reminded of a story regarding this battalion. Several of the force are on duty daily in Mercaderes street,—the gold-broker's haunt,—to keep the way clear, &c., and it is said that a countryman came up to one of them and asked the price of gold. Being ordered off, he remonstrated this-wise: "Why, I took you to be a Government gold broker in your uniform, with O. on one lappel for oro, (gold,) and P. on the other for papel, (paper.)" The common nickname for the battalion is, however, "Otros Pillos," other rascals.

SHARKEY, THE MURDERER.

William J. Sharkey, the New-York murderer, has been allowed by the Government to take passage for Kingston, Jamaica, and left in the Spanish steamer Alicante, on Tuesday last. Ever since his arrest by the authorities here, nearly a year ago, he has been kept in a cell at the office of the Chief of Police—an elephant to the Government, for they did not know what to do with him.

THE MEXICAN GUN-BOATS.

The two Mexican gun-boats lying in our harbor, the Independencia and Libertad, celebrated to-day the anniversary of Mexican independence by firing salutes. These are two neat little gun-boats constructed in England, and on the way to Mexico. They are to await the arrival of crews to man them from Mexico.

SUICIDE ON A RAILROAD TRACK.

LEBANON, Penn., Sept. 21.—A lady between twenty-five and thirty years of age came here last evening and registered at the Lebanon Valley House, at the depot, as Miss Lulu Greene, of Philadelphia. At noon to-day she started to walk down the Lebanon Valley Railroad. When about two miles from here she met a freight train, and, wrapping her shawl around her, deliberately threw herself on the track. Her head was severed from the body.

THE BANK OF CALIFORNIA.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 21.—Nothing new has transpired at the Bank of California. The officers and Directors contradict the statement that the bank will reopen on the 27th. They say no time has been fixed yet that could give such an impression, but that resumption about that time is probable.

BLACK ROCK CANAL FRAUDS

GEORGE D. LORD AND BOWMAN ARRAIGNED.

BRIBERY AND CONSPIRACY—THE VARIOUS COUNTS IN THE INDICTMENTS—LORD SEEKING THE PROTECTION OF THE STATUTE OF LIMITATIONS—BAIL IN $30,000 REQUIRED.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 21.—George D. Lord and William H. Bowman, of Rochester, arrived here to-day at 2 P. M. in charge of officers sent from this city for their arrest, accompanied by the attorney, W. F. Cogswell, of Rochester, and were arraigned before Judge Clinton. The charges against Lord are bribery and conspiracy. To the charge of bribery Mr. Cogswell, attorney for Lord, said he wished to enter the usual plea of "not guilty," and a special plea in writing under the Statute of limitations which would raise a legal question as to whether proceedings were not barred by the statute of limitations. Admitting that the laws of 1873 extended the time in which indictments could be found to five years he found that the law was not retroactive, and if it were it would be unconstitutional.

The Judge said the counsel had the right to interpose such a plea.

The District Attorney said he should put in a demurrer to-morrow.

Judge Clinton said he would fix an early day for the hearing, and adjourned the proceedings until to-morrow.

Bail was fixed at $25,000 on the charge of bribery, and at $5,000 on the charge of conspiracy, Thomas Leighton, of Rochester, qualifying as bondsman.

W. H. Bowman was next arraigned for conspiracy with George D. Lord and others. He pleaded not guilty, and was admitted to bail in the sum of $5,000, his surety being Charles O. Morse, of Rochester.

The indictment against Lord covered fifty-two pages of legal cap and contains seven counts, in substance as follows:

That on the 1st day of February, 1871, John Hand owned a claim against the State of New-York for work done for the State under three several contracts entered into by him; one for dredging Black Rock Harbor, one for dredging the Erie Basin, and one for dredging the Ohio Basin. That the price paid and to be paid for said work and dredging was insufficient to pay the expenses incurred in doing said work, and that the claim of said Hand for compensation over and above the price agreed to be paid by the State was a large amount, viz., $65,415 14. That it was understood and agreed between Hand and Lord that to obtain the allowance and payment of the claim, an act authorizing payment of the same must be passed by the Legislature. That for the purpose of procuring the enactment of the law authorizing payment of the claim a bill entitled an act for the relief of John Hand must be introduced in the Legislature and Assembly, and was such a matter as might be brought before Lord in his official capacity as a member of the Assembly. That as such member of the Assembly, on the 22d of February, 1871, at Buffalo, he did feloniously, willfully, and corruptly receive and accept from Hand an agreement and assignment made by Hand, whereby Hand assigned and promised and agreed to pay to Lord, as such member of Assembly two-thirds of any and all additional moneys over and above the amounts provided to be paid by the express terms of the several contracts of Hand with the people of the State of New-York on the several contracts as stated above that might be paid or awarded to be paid on account of any allowance or award by the Board of Canal Commissioners to Hand by being introduced and brought before the Assembly and Legislature upon its becoming a law; and that Lord, a member of Assembly, might have, collect, and receive all moneys paid and awarded to be paid to Hand by the proper officers of the State to pay the same, and that the assignment and agreement aforesaid was so feloniously, willfully, and corruptly received and accepted by Lord, with the understanding by Lord that his official action, as member of the Assembly, upon said bill, was to be influenced thereby, to wit: That Lord, as such member of Assembly, would support, favor, and vote for the passage of said bill to be introduced into the Assembly, when the same should be put upon its passage therein, against the form of the statute in such cases made and provided. That the bill entitled "The act for the relief of John Hand" was introduced into the Legislature and Assembly on the 20th of February, 1871, and was passed on the 19th of April, 1871, and that Lord, as a member of the Assembly, willfully, corruptly, and feloniously gave his official influence and vote in favor of said bill and its passage, and when it was introduced and passed by the Assembly. That one Lewis J. Bennett was interested in the Hand contracts, and had charge, management, and superintendence of said work; that Bennett and Hand claimed the price to be paid by the State to Hand was inadequate. That Hand had an equitable and just claim against the State for the additional sum of $65,415 14 on account of three several contracts, and that to obtain the allowance and payment of this amount by the State an agreement was entered into at the City of Buffalo, Feb. 5, 1871, between Bennett, Hand, and George D. Lord, as a member of the Assembly, that a bill must and should be introduced into, and passed by, the Legislature and Assembly authorizing, requiring, and directing the payment of the said amount.

The fifth clause charges the receiving, accepting, and entertaining of a proposition by Lord from Bennett, for two-thirds of this allowance, spoken of before, and charges that this was received by Lord for his official vote, action, and influence, and that Lord as a member of the Assembly on the 9th day of February, 1871, at Buffalo, received of and from Lewis J. Bennett his promise and understanding to make and furnish George D. Lord a gift and thing of value, to wit: The agreement and promise of Hand to give and pay to one John Kiley two-thirds of the amount expected, to be awarded as additional allowance expected to be awarded as before set forth, and this promise of Hand was accepted by Lord as a member of the Assembly, with the understanding that his official action was to be influenced thereby.

Lewis J. Bennett and Thaddeus C. Davis, of Buffalo, were in town, arraigned on charges of conspiracy to defraud the State of New-York, and were admitted to bail in the sum of $5,000 each to appear from day to day.

BANK SUSPENSION IN MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, Canada, Sept. 21.—The Directors of the Mechanics' Bank have issued a statement saying that in consequence of the discovery of serious defalcations, which interrupted the negotiations in progress for amalgamation with another bank, pending a statement, they deem it their duty for the better protection of all interests to suspend payment for the present. The interests of billholders and depositors are fully protected, and the Directors hope at an early day to make such an arrangement as will secure the best possible realization for shareholders.

AN OLD CASE FINALLY DECIDED.

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 21.—The long-contested case of Meneely vs. Meneely, in which E. A. & G. R. Meneely sought to prevent Meneely & Kimberly, bell founders, of Troy, from using the name of Meneely, was decided to-day by the Court of Appeals. The decision was absolute, with costs in favor of Meneely & Kimberly.

PROBABLE MURDER AND SUICIDE.

KEENE, N. H., Sept. 21.—Mrs. White, a widow, of Marlboro, N. H., while temporarily insane this afternoon, cut the throat of Mrs. Gerould, a lady visiting her, and then cut her own with a scythe. Neither is expected to recover.

THE TEXAS CATTLE DISEASE.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 21.—The Texas cattle disease has appeared in one herd in Cranston, of which five have died and the remainder are threatened. The Cattle Commissioners are investigating the case. In July last a Texas steer escaped from a slaughter-house and sought refuge with this herd, which was soon infested with ticks, which defied all efforts to eradicate them. There are no other herds affected as yet.

JOE MORRIS.

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 21.—Judge Erskine, of the Federal Court, took no action regarding the capture of Joe Morris in the court building. There is no further trouble. The prisoner will be taken to Burke County for trial.

LAW REPORTS.

ATTACHING "THE MIGHTY DOLLAR."

A MOTION TO VACATE THE ORDER—ARGUMENTS OF THE COUNSEL OF MESSRS. STUART AND HERTZ.

As already reported in THE TIMES, an attachment was issued a few days since from the Marine Court, in a suit brought by Benjamin H. Hertz and others against William Stuart, to recover $635 due to plaintiffs for furniture sold to defendant for use in the exhibition at the Park Theatre of the play called "The Mighty Dollar." The attachment was issued on the ground that defendant was a non-resident of the State of New-York, being a resident of New-London, in the State of Connecticut; that defendant had threatened and was about to dispose of his property with a view to defrauding his creditors, and that the goods had been obtained by fraud, defendant or his agents having bought them for cash on delivery, and having given in payment a check which proved worthless. On an application to vacate this attachment, made before Judge Joachimsen, of the Marine Court, it was represented that the Deputy Sheriff, Patrick Campbell, who executed the attachment, had exacted from the defendant $150 for allowing the property to remain in the theatre, and that on the following day he had removed it. Upon this ground, and the further one that there was a technical defect in the bond on which the attachment was issued, the Judge ordered that it be vacated; that the property be immediately restored to the theatre, and the $150 be paid back. Immediately thereupon, on affidavits setting forth the same grounds of attachment, one was issued by Judge Donohue, of the Supreme Court. Armed with this attachment, the Deputy Sheriff had the property carted back to the theatre, and after receiving a receipt therefor from the agent of Mr. Stuart, thus complying with Judge Joachimsen's order, immediately proceeded to execute Judge Donohue's order, and under it to "clear out the theatre." This was a short time before the opening of the theatre for the evening's entertainment, and resulted in preventing the performance. Yesterday in Supreme Court, Chambers, the matter came up before Judge Donohue on a motion to vacate the attachment, Mr. W. J. Marrin appearing as counsel for Mr. Stuart and Mr. Scribner for plaintiff. Mr. Marrin read numerous affidavits by Mr. Stuart and those who know him in this City, to the effect that he has been a resident here for the past twenty-one years, and never during that time a resident elsewhere; that until within a short time he had a cottage at New-London, where he spent a small portion of the Summer season—only about three weeks in all during the past two years—but never considered himself a resident of that place, and he never made the threat to dispose of his property in fraud of his creditors, as charged by the plaintiffs. In opposition, and with a view to sustain the attachment already in existence, Mr. Scribner read affidavits of several parties in Connecticut to the effect that they regarded him [Stuart] as a resident of New-London; that he had been assessed there as such, had been served with process by the Sheriff of that county as such, and had executed mortgages on his property there, describing himself as such. He also read affidavits of Benjamin H. Hertz, one of the plaintiffs, to the effect that defendant had purchased the goods "C. O. D.;" that on the day they were delivered defendant gave a check dated ahead for the amount, which check was accepted by plaintiff, but not paid; that this check was exchanged after maturity for another, which was also dishonored, and that in conversation with defendant as to suing for the claim, the latter said if he was pushed he would sell out, and thus the plaintiffs would get nothing. Plaintiff furthermore said that he had nothing to do with the action of the Sheriff, and the latter swore that he had been guilty of no violence, as charged against him by the defendants' agents, but alleged, on the contrary, that the defendants had told him in no very complimentary terms to take the goods, and then turned off the gas, leaving him to execute his process by the light of a tallow candle.

Upon these affidavits Mr. Scribner argued that the non-residence of the defendant had been sufficiently established to sustain the attachment under the provisions of the Code. While counsel was commenting on the manner of contracting the debt, Judge Donohue called his attention to the fact that in the original affidavits presented to him, and on which the attachment was granted, nothing was said as to the goods having been delivered on a check which was dated ahead. This omission seemed to him now to have been intentional, and was an "outrage and imposition" on the court. The plaintiff when he accepted that check must have known that the reason of its being dated ahead was because the defendant had no present funds to meet it, and yet this most important fact had been suppressed in the original affidavits presented to the court. Mr. Scribner endeavored to explain this on the theory that his client did not know there was any difference between a check dated ahead and one bearing date at the time of its delivery. Judge Donohue said the only question in the case on which he desired to hear argument was that of the non-residence of the defendant, and to that point alone he desired defendant's counsel to direct his argument.

In response to this suggestion of the court Mr. Marrin, for defendant, argued that Mr. Stuart (who must be supposed to have best knowledge on this subject) had sworn that he was not now, nor had he ever been, a resident of New-London, but had been always a resident of New-York, and on this latter point he was confirmed by numerous persons who knew him intimately, and by the proprietors of hotels in this City, where he has had a continuous residence. As to Mr. Stuart having been taxed as a resident of Connecticut, he [Stuart] knew nothing of that; he had never paid a personal tax in Connecticut as a resident there, or knew himself to have been assessed as such; as to the mortgages, they were drawn by an attorney, Mr. Stuart paying no attention to his being described therein as a resident of New-London, and even if he did, supposed he was so described because the property to which the mortgage related was located there. These allegations, therefore, were entitled to no weight in opposition to the affidavits alleging defendant's constant residence in this City, and related to circumstances which Mr. Stuart never construed as his admission of being a resident of Connecticut.

The court took the papers, reserving decision.

ORDERS VACATING ASSESSMENTS SET ASIDE.

In Supreme Court yesterday twenty-four orders were entered by Judge Donohue, setting aside previous orders vacating assessments for irregularity. The property thereby affected is that assessed for laying a cross-walk in West and Leroy streets; for setting a basin in Thirtieth street; for laying a cross-walk in Broadway; for setting curb in Sixty-first street; for laying cross-walks in Twenty-third street; for flagging Broadway between Fifty-first and Fifty-ninth streets; for flagging Eighth avenue between Fifty-third and One Hundred and Fifty-ninth streets; for paving Sixth avenue, between Forty-second and Fifty-ninth streets; for cross-walks in Anne street; for flagging Thirteenth street, from No. 415 to Avenue A; for flagging Fifth avenue, between Forty-third and Sixtieth streets; for flagging Fifty-sixth street, between Eighth avenue and Broadway; for curbing One Hundred and Eighteenth street, between First avenue and Avenue —; for flagging Fifty-first street, between Broadway and Eighth avenue; for laying a cross-walk in Broadway; for cross-walks in Third avenue and One Hundred and Fifth street; for cross-walks in West street, near Houston street; for setting curbs in Washington, near Reade street; for setting curbs in West street, between Chambers and Canal; for setting curbs in Forty-seventh street, between Eighth avenue and Broadway; for flagging Forty-seventh street, between Third and Fifth avenues; for curbing and guttering Eighty-third street, between Third and Fifth avenues, and for cross-walks in West street, near Dey.

By this disposition of the orders formerly entered, the City is permitted another opportunity to establish the validity of the assessments.

THE WILL OF JOHN L. BROWN.

The case in which the will of John L. Brown, the street-cleaning contractor, is contested, came on for continued hearing yesterday before Surrogate Hutchings. By the terms of the will, the testator left all his estate to Hannah E. Brown, who claims to be his widow, and John L. Brown, Jr., their son. The will is contested by Mary Ann Brown, who claims to be the widow of the testator, by virtue of a first marriage, never annulled. She alleges that the testator was never legally divorced from her. It is further charged that the will was obtained through undue influence brought to bear upon the testator while he was mentally incompetent to execute such an instrument. Mary Ann testified yesterday that she separated from the testator on account of the relations which he established with Hannah E., but that there was no divorce; that the testator provided for her after the separation, and was always kind to her when they met, and on one occasion caught her in his arms and kissed her in the street. George Martin, a nephew of the testator, testified that just before the will was executed the testator sustained severe injuries affecting his brain, and rendering him subject to fits. On the cross-examination of the witness, he admitted that the testator appeared well able to attend to his business, notwithstanding his injuries. The further hearing was adjourned until 2 o'clock to-morrow afternoon.

THE MARINE CLOTHING FRAUDS.

United States District Attorney Bliss recently began a suit against Charles Barnum, to recover money which he was charged with having received from the Government under the false pretext that he had furnished clothing to the Marine Corps pursuant to contract. District Attorney Bliss has now brought suit against Robert S. Allen, a clothier in this City, to recover $12,500 from him, which he is charged with having received under circumstances similar to those existing in the Barnum case. The suit is nominally for $25,000, double the amount actually sought to be recovered.

ITALIAN COUNTERFEITERS.

Emilio Giabbe, an Italian boy about fifteen years old, living at No. 35 Mulberry street, was arrested yesterday on a charge of attempting to pass a counterfeit ten-dollar national currency note, purporting to have been issued by the First National Bank of Philadelphia, in a tea store at No. 137 Bleecker street. He was taken before Commissioner Shields, and held for examination. The note which Giabbe attempted to pass is of the same kind as those found on the Italians recently arrested at the Grand Central Depot. It is thought that Giabbe was induced to attempt to pass the bill by others older than himself, and that his arrest will lead to their capture.

THE WILKES LIBEL SUIT.

HE APPEARS, WITH COUNSEL, BEFORE JUSTICE BIXBY—THE CASE POSTPONED UNTIL MONDAY.

Mr. George Wilkes, editor of the Spirit of the Times, accompanied by his counsel, A. Oakey Hall, appeared at the Washington Place Police Court, yesterday morning, to answer a charge of libel preferred against him by James F. Latham, at present connected with the Union Square Theatre. The complainant, with his counsel, Mr. Charles F. Brooks, was also present, and the court-room was filled by a large representation of the dramatic fraternity. Divested of its legal verbiage, the alleged libel, in brief, avers that Latham was for a considerable period in the employ of the Spirit of the Times in the capacity of assistant dramatic writer, and that on the 14th of last April, by false and fraudulent pretenses, he obtained $30 from the cashier of the establishment. That offense he subsequently confessed, and was discharged in consequence from his position. The complaint also alleged that false charges were made by Wilkes to the effect that Latham stole property belonging to the office; that he waived examination at the Tombs upon a charge made against him, and subsequently, by undue influence, induced the Grand Jury to disregard the charge against him. The first of the libels was published on the 8th of May, and has since been repeated, with defamatory assertions and innuendoes. All the statements made against him Latham stigmatizes as untrue, while it is claimed that the defense will assert their truthfulness in justification of the act. Mr. Wilkes was arrested on Monday evening on a warrant issued by Judge Bixby, but as the latter gentleman was engaged yesterday in the Court of Special Sessions and could not conduct the examination of the case, an adjournment was agreed upon until next Monday.

COURT NOTES.

The case in which Constantine Schuerr, the suspended Custom-house gauger, is charged with stealing liquor from casks before they were gauged, was summed up yesterday before Commissioner Shields, who reserved his decision.

Judge Wallace, of the Northern District, will hold the United States Circuit Court in this district on Oct. 18. Judge Blatchford will hear Circuit and District Court motions on Oct. 2, and will open the regular term of the District Court on Oct. 5, and take up the admiralty calendar.

James C. Mills & Co. have made an assignment for the benefit of creditors, in the ordinary form, appointing George Augustus Meyer, Assignee. A similar assignment has been made by Thomas Woodward, Jr. The latter's schedule fixes his liabilities at $7,616 93 and his assets at $6,029.

The matter of the foreclosure suit against the Midland Railroad Company, especially in reference to the application for the surrender of leases of branch roads, was again before Judge Blatchford yesterday, in the United States Circuit Court. The time for taking testimony was extended to the 27th inst., and the final argument set down for Oct. 2.

A writ of habeas corpus was issued by Judge Donohue, in Supreme Court, Chambers, yesterday, on petition of William J. Ree. The petitioner is charged with forging bonds of the California and Oregon Railroad Company, and had his bail reduced from $10,000 to $7,000. He says he is able to give but $2,500 bail, and claims it should be reduced to that sum.

The Sheriff has filed his return of a sale of property of Henry W. Genet, made in July last. The property is situated on Fifth avenue, between One Hundred and Twenty-sixth and One Hundred and Twenty-seventh streets, in Harlem, and was sold to Jane M. Charlick, Executrix; Aaron J. Vanderpoel and George W. Quintard, Executors of the estate of the late Oliver Charlick, for the sum of $18,000.

On the application of the counsel of the Society for the Reformation of Juvenile Delinquents in the City of New-York, Judge Donohue, in Supreme Court, Chambers, yesterday granted temporary injunctions restraining William Cramer, J. W. Meck, and others from carrying on theatrical performances at Nos. 46 and 48 Bowery, and Paul Bauer, at No. 3 Bowery, until they shall have paid the statutory license fee for such privilege.

A DISHONEST HOTEL WAITER.

Freeman N. Sawyer, an intelligent-looking colored waiter, was arraigned before Recorder Hackett yesterday, in the Court of General Sessions, on an indictment charging him with grand larceny. It appeared that on the 10th inst. Sawyer entered the employ of the proprietors of Franch's Hotel as a waiter in the restaurant, and two days afterward disappeared with silver-plated spoons, knives, napkin rings, and pitchers, valued at $32. The fugitive was subsequently arrested, and the stolen property was found in his possession. Sawyer pleaded guilty to the offense, and Recorder Hackett, after alluding to the prevalence of dishonesty among servants, sentenced him to two years and six months in State Prison, at hard labor.

THE CRIME COMMITTEE'S WITNESSES

AN ASSURANCE OF PROTECTION ASKED OF THE BOARD OF POLICE—THEY AGREE TO DO SO BY ALL MEANS IN THEIR POWER.

At the meeting of the Board of Police yesterday the following communication was read from Mr. John D. Townsend, counsel for the Legislative Committee on Crime:

> OFFICE OF TOWNSEND, WEED & AUB,
> No. 234 BROADWAY,
> NEW-YORK, Sept. 17, 1875.
>
> To the Commissioners of the Board of Police:
>
> GENTLEMEN: One of the greatest obstructions to a full and thorough examination of the matters which the Assembly Committee on the Increase of Crime has to contend with is the fear which complainants have that they will lose their positions, or be otherwise injured, should they present themselves as witnesses before the committee. This apprehension is found to exist especially among those who state grievances against the Police force. If you, as a board, would give publicity to an assurance upon your part that you would protect all witnesses, as well against complaints for not having first disclosed their charges to the Police Department, as from molestation on the part of officers in the Police Department, the committee feel quite confident that they will be able to fill the trust imposed on them. Very respectfully,
>
> JOHN D. TOWNSEND,
> Counsel for the Committee.
> By order of the Committee.

Mr. Voorhis was about to offer a motion granting the request, when Mr. Disbecker interrupted, and said that, while he was quite willing the board should protect witnesses against any molestation, he thought that some attention should be directed to the manner in which the testimony of these witnesses was taken before the committee. The investigation purported to be an impartial one. It was not so in reality. The witnesses were privately examined in the counsel's office before being brought before the committee, and their testimony was rejected if it did not suit the purposes of the counsel. An officer was summoned and asked whether he was a friend of Disbecker. He answered, no more of a friend than to any other Commissioner. He was then asked about the return of Mr. Alvord's watch, and said in reply that Mr. Disbecker had ordered him to arrest every pickpocket he knew. The counsel said, "Oh, that's not what I want; I want evidence against Disbecker." When this officer was placed on the stand not one word of this evidence was brought out, for the reason that it was favorable to Mr. Disbecker. When witnesses were examined they should tell the whole truth.

Mr. Voorhis said that he thought the assurance ought to be given, though, of course, he would prefer that officers should first furnish information to the Board of Police.

Mr. Disbecker said that the proposed assurance would conflict with the rules of the department. Suppose that a Police Captain should testify that he was aware of corruption among his subordinates and had not reported it to the board, would the proposed assurance pardon the breach of discipline? He did not believe that the request came from the committee, but was simply the act of Mr. Townsend.

Commissioner Smith said that he had met the Chairman of the Legislative Committee and was informed by him that the committee had ordered Mr. Townsend to make the request.

Mr. Disbecker said that in that event he had no further remarks to offer.

Mr. Voorhis then moved the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the Board of Police publicly assure the Assembly Committee on Investigation of Crime that it will cheerfully protect, by all means in its power, from persecution or annoyance on the part of the Police Department, any and all witnesses who may appear and give testimony before said committee.

A complaint was received that gambling was being carried on at No. 18 Dover street, and was referred to the Superintendent for inquiry and action. Patrolmen Peter Masterson, of the Seventh Precinct; James Kane, of the Twentieth Precinct; George S. Anderson and Pierce J. Butler, of the Twenty-third, and Joseph Pickett, of the Mounted Squad, were dismissed the department.

THE CITY'S HEALTH.

Following is an abstract of the report presented by Dr. Elisha Harris, Register of Vital Statistics, at the meeting of the Board of Health held yesterday: In the week ending on Saturday, the 18th inst., there were 634 deaths reported, against 612 verified for the previous week. The increase occurred chiefly in diphtheria, croup, and bronchitis. There was a decrease in diarrheal diseases and the mortality of young children. The number of deaths reported under five years of age was 342, or 53.92 per cent. of the total; the number aged five years and upward was 292, or 46.08 per cent of the total. The death-rate in the week ending Sept. 4 was equal to 28.69 in the 1,000 living, and upon reported deaths last week it was 31 in the 1,000.

Dr. Day, Sanitary Superintendent, presented the following comparative report of cases of contagious diseases for the two weeks ending on the 18th inst.:

Week ending Sept. 18—Typhus fever, 3; typhoid fever, 27; scarlet fever, 7; measles, 2; diphtheria, 75; small-pox, 24; cerebro-spinal meningitis, 1.

A PRETENDED ATTEMPT TO MURDER.

In reference to the case of Thomas Corrigan, the horse-dealer who was shot in the head at his stable, No. 214 Sixth street, on Monday afternoon, there is no longer any doubt that he shot himself while frenzied by drink. Yesterday morning he had recovered from the effects of his debauch, and said he did not know who shot him; that the man ran into the stable, shot him and ran out again. Capt. McCullough arrested Mr. Abram Van Dorn, a produce dealer in Washington Market, on suspicion of having shot Corrigan, and the Captain with the Coroner and Van Dorn proceeded to Bellevue Hospital. Corrigan positively declared that Van Dorn was not the man, and he was, in consequence, honorably discharged. The general opinion of the Police, and of Corrigan's friends, is that Corrigan shot himself, and that realizing the state of affairs now he refuses to admit having done so, and yet will not acknowledge the falsity of the statement made by him on Monday—that he had been shot by a man to whom he had sold a horse. Corrigan's condition was much improved yesterday, and there is a reasonable chance for his recovery.

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS TO BE INVESTIGATED.

In the closing hours of the Legislative session, and after the Assembly had appointed its Committee on Criminal Affairs, the Senate, on motion, adopted a resolution creating a committee of three Senators to investigate any and all of the affairs of the Municipal or County Government of the City and County of New-York. This special committee will begin its sessions on Monday next, at 11 o'clock A. M., at the Fifth Avenue Hotel. The members are Senators Booth and Tobey, Republicans, and Senator Bradley, Democrat. The two former gentlemen were in the City and held a conference yesterday, but no plan of action or of definite procedure was agreed upon. Senator Tobey left last evening for his home in Essex County.

TUESDAY, Sept. 21—P. M.

The business on the Stock Exchange was less active than yesterday, the transactions aggregating 197,000 shares. In the early dealings there was a general advance in prices, but late in the day the improvement was partially lost under sales to realize profits. Western Union opened at 76¼, ex-dividend of 2 ₱ cent., and advanced to 77, but subsequently reacted to 76 and closed at 76¼. Lake Shore advanced to 55 in the morning but declined to 53⅞ in the afternoon and closed at 54. Union Pacific rose from 70½ to 71¾, and finally reached to 71¼. Pacific Mail advanced to 36¾, but declined to 35¾ on a report that the new steamer City of San Francisco was ashore at the South-west Spit. When it became known that the steamer was not ashore, and had only stopped to adjust her compass, the stock recovered to 36⅛. Erie declined from 17¾ to 16⅞, but subsequently recovered to 17⅝, the fluctuations being in sympathy with the course of the stocks at London. Missouri Pacific advanced to 47@47½, on the announcement of a quarterly dividend of 1½ ₱ cent. against 1¼ ₱ cent. previously. For two years to come the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company, according to the terms of the lease, will pay dividends on the Missouri Pacific at the rate of 6 ₱ cent. ₱ annum, and thereafter at the rate of 7 ₱ cent. Ohios declined from 17⅛ to 16¼ on rumors that the suspended Mechanics' Bank of Montreal were holders of the stock as collateral for loans. North-western ranged between 39⅛ and 39¾, closing at 39½. The Quicksilver shares advanced ⅛ ₱ cent. The other fluctuations were unimportant.

The money market was easy at 2@3 ₱ cent. on call, and 5@6 ₱ cent. for prime mercantile paper.

The London advices reported consols a fraction higher at the close, and United States bonds steady. Erie was lower, declining to 14¾, with a subsequent rally to 15¾, and a final close at 115@115¼. To-day £65,000 sterling was withdrawn from the Bank of England on balance, of which £25,000 was taken out for shipment to the United States. In the open market the rate of discount for three months' bills was 1⅝@1¾ ₱ cent., against 2 ₱ cent. at bank. Sterling exchange here at the opening was lower, and the bankers reduced their rates to $4 79 and $4 83, but subsequently the market was firmer, and the rates were put back to $4 80 and $4 84. Among the brokers actual business was at $4 78@$4 80 for bankers' 60-day bills, and $4 83@$4 83½ for demand, closing at about $4 79 and $4 83. The gold speculation was weaker, the price declining from 117¼ to 116¾, with a recovery to 117⅛, and a close at 116⅞. In the loan market borrowers paid 1-64 to 1-16 for the use of gold, but late in the day loans were more flat.

Government bonds were quiet. There was less activity in railroad mortgages, but the sales generally were at full prices. State bonds were dull.

GRAIN—Spring Wheat has further yielded 1c.@2c. a bushel on quite liberal offerings, particularly of low grades, and a comparatively moderate inquiry, almost wholly from export buyers. Sales have been reported, since our last, of 131,000 bushels at $1 25 for strictly primo old No. 2 Milwaukee Spring, in store; $1 25 for choice new No. 2 do. afloat (with No. 1 Spring quoted nominally at from $1 28@$1 33;) $1 18@$1 22 for fair to very choice No. 2 North-west Spring, afloat; $1 17@$1 20 for fair to prime No. 2 Chicago do., afloat; $1 18 for very good do., in store; $1 13@$1 16 for soft No. 2 do.; 98c.@$1 24 for ungraded Spring, mainly at $1@$1 10 for very low grades; $1 15@$1 35, (nominally,) for Red Western, new and old; $1 15 for soft new do., odd car lots; $1 20@$1 40, (nominally,) for new and old Amber do., and $1 30@$1 50 (nominally,) for White do....Corn has been quoted about 1c.@2c. ₱ bushel lower on a free offering, particularly of the poorer grades, leading to a comparatively brisk trade, mostly in steamer grades of new for shipment....Sales have been reported of 224,000 bushels at 72c.@74c. for fair to choice sailing vessel new Mixed Western, chiefly at 73c. for prime, and 73¾c. for choice, afloat; 68c.@72c. for inferior to strictly prime steamer do. do., afloat, mainly at 70c.@71½c. afloat; 74c.@75c. for new Yellow Western; 62½c.@67½c. for damaged and warm new Mixed Western, afloat; 76½c. for White Western, (five car-loads,) afloat; and 74c. for prime old Mixed Western, in store (four to five boat-loads) for export....Rye dull and heavy; 700 bushels State sold at 92c....Barley has been in moderate demand, opening stronger, with $1 30 reported bid for strictly prime six-rowed State, to arrive, and $1 32 asked; but closing weaker and irregular, the earlier bids having been withdrawn, or modified materially. Two or three boat-loads were rumored sold, but without reliable particulars. The accounts which reach this City of the destruction of the town of Indianola, Texas, are meagre, and abound a good deal more in expressions of terror than in facts. But they are sufficient to show that the disaster has been a severe and even appalling one. The storm was as sudden as it was violent, and no time was allowed to the unfortunate residents of the town to save property, or even life. Estimates place the number of persons killed as high as two hundred, and there is only too much reason to fear that even this limit may be exceeded. The storm cut off telegraphic communication with the town, and the distress of the survivors before relief could be brought to them was very great. It was first lessened by succor from Galveston—a town which has itself suffered greatly from similar misfortunes. The storm which destroyed Indianola was evidently extended, but its course cannot be distinctly traced by advices yet received.

Whatever may be the merits of Judge PERSHING, the Democratic candidate for Governor in Pennsylvania, it is not to be denied that he was a very rank partisan during the war. Any one who will take the trouble to hunt up his record while a member of the State House of Representatives, will find that he cast some votes which he can hardly reflect upon now without shame. For instance, he voted for a bill to prohibit negroes coming into the State to make it their temporary or permanent residence—a measure as grossly unconstitutional as it was barbarous and absurd. He voted for a declaration that the Emancipation Proclamation of the President was unconstitutional and his acts arbitrary, and this as late as 1863, so that in the third year of the war he was a good deal more distressed about the rights of the insurgents than he was about the liberties of the Unionists of the South. Two years afterward he voted against ratifying the amendment to the National Constitution abolishing slavery, and, in 1864, he voted against giving the soldiers the privilege of voting. To these curious evidences of his bitter partisanship he added other votes showing that he was quite ready to do work—and some not very clean work—for the corporations, as, for instance, his vote against the bill forbidding corporations to pay their employes in store orders, one of the most fruitful sources of discontent among the Pennsylvania workmen. And in 1866 he voted to give the Philadelphia and Erie Railroad Company power to construct branches without limit or restriction.

This morning's cable dispatches confirm the impression that the Turkish Government has nothing to fear from Servia in its suppression of the Herzegovina insurrection, as Prince MILAN is substantially left to his own judgment in the matter. The Bosnian revolt has died out as suddenly as it arose, and is said to have been purely an independent rising against Turkish extortion, though in this, as in all other similar instances, the Turkish side of the story is not and cannot be told. Other European news is interesting, but not important. The Municipal Court of Berlin backs BISMARCK'S policy with a sentence of five months' imprisonment to the Ultramontane editor of the Germania for "insulting the Chancellor and inciting to disobedience of the laws." It is reported from Madrid that some 18,000 men will be sent to reinforce the Spanish Army in Cuba by the middle of November, which argues confidence in the ability of the Government to keep the ground it has gained from the Carlists.

Vice Commodore GARNER has at least the courage of his convictions. As will be seen from his letter in another column, he does not intend to sit quietly under the imputation of being a fair-weather sailor. He is prepared by way of testing the capability of his centre-board yacht to encounter rough weather, to sail any yacht, keel or centre-board, upon any day when an eight-knot breeze or upward is blowing, twenty miles to windward and back outside of Sandy Hook Light-ship. This plucky challenge of the owner of the Mohawk must be answered in THE TIMES before the 1st of October, and in the interests of sport and seamanship, we trust it may be taken up.

The Republicans of the Twelfth Senatorial District, embracing the Counties of Rensselaer and Washington, have nominated Hon. THOMAS COLEMAN, of Troy, to the Senate. He is a gentleman whose reputation for character and ability is well established in his district, and he has had experience in public affairs, having been in the State Legislature in 1859 and 1860. This district was carried by the Democrats two years since by only a small majority—some eight hundred—and it ought to be redeemed this Fall, as it will be if Mr. COLEMAN gets the support which he deserves.

LOCAL NOMINATIONS THIS FALL.

While it would be difficult to exaggerate the magnitude of the issues which depend on the approaching election for State officers, the local offices to be filled are numerous and important enough to demand an unusual share of public attention. This is all the more necessary from the fact that the local contest will be exceedingly complicated in its character, and very doubtful as to its results. Tammany Hall is confronted by a stronger opposition than it has met since 1871, and it only requires unexceptionably good nominations and something like united action to secure the defeat of the organized force of political corruption which obeys the orders of JOHN KELLY. It is obvious at the outset that the serious divisions among the local Democracy cannot be used with any very great effect to strengthen the Republican State ticket. As will be seen from the report of an interview in another column, Mr. OTTENDORFER states on behalf of the Independent German Democracy that they intend to support the Democratic State ticket. After the insulting reception accorded to Mr. OTTENDORFER at Syracuse, and in view of the fact that the cause of Democratic reform in the State is to be worked in the interests of corruption in New-York City, this may seem a remarkable decision. But it is only what the experience of the past has led us to expect, and it will save a good deal of disappointment if the fact is kept in view throughout the campaign. The anti-Tammany faction headed by Mr. ROOSEVELT and others, and the anti-Kelly party, of which JOHN MORRISSEY is the head, may, from a variety of motives, scratch the Democratic State ticket pretty freely. But we may safely be content with modest expectations on that score, and the Republicans have certainly nothing to gain by conceding anything to these organizations in return for a promised accession of strength to their State ticket. We need not go very far back in the history of New-York politics to find that votes bargained for in such cases are very seldom delivered.

The local contest must, in fact, be fought on its own merits, and the path of safety and of honor lies in making the local nominations without respect to any secondary object whatever. The programme of the German Democrats is very simple and straightforward. It is to make no nominations of their own, but to select the best men from the tickets presented by the two great political organizations, and prepare their ballots accordingly. By extending to this respectable and numerous body of votes the cheap courtesy of consulting them beforehand, the Republicans can probably make such nominations as will secure their support. Any coalition thus formed would represent at least 60,000 votes. If the other organizations opposed to the Kelly dictatorship seriously intend to beat Tammany Hall, they could only do so by throwing their influence on the side of the ticket thus agreed on. It would be a sheer waste of votes for them to put in nomination any third ticket. They would thus contribute to the triumph of Tammany Hall as effectually as if they had voted on its side, and from the difficulty of inducing people to support a predestined failure they would emerge from the test of the ballot-box a much weaker body than they really are. This blunder has been made often enough in City politics to make shrewd politicians think twice before making it again.

The people may not be generally aware that there are sixty-seven legislative, judicial, and municipal officers to be elected in this City and County in November next. First come five State Senators and twenty-one members of Assembly to be elected from the districts of Manhattan Island. Until new Senatorial and Assembly districts are fixed on the basis of the census of this year, the voters of the new wards will participate in the election of legislators from Westchester County. For all other officers they will rank among the general voting population of the City. It is hardly necessary to point out the necessity of placing unexceptionable nominees in the field for legislative office. At present the Republicans hold but one Senate district and four Assembly districts in this City. In addition to keeping what they have got, the Republicans ought to be able to increase at least their Assembly delegation. In districts where they have no chance of success, they would do well to cast in their strength with the opponents of Tammany Hall.

Chief among the judicial officers to be elected is the District Attorney. The possession of this office was one of the main supports of the power of the Tweed Ring, and it is essential for the consolidation of the Kelly dictatorship that the Tammany nominee should be elected to the office. During the administration of Mr. PHELPS nearly twice as many convictions have been obtained by the District Attorney as during the same period of GARVIN'S incumbency. This is the best proof that could be given of the enormous power for good or evil wielded by the public prosecutor of this City. The people could better afford to have half a dozen corrupt Judges than an unscrupulous or incapable District Attorney. The people will also be called upon to elect a Surrogate in November. The term of office is six years, and the importance of making a proper choice is almost as great as in the case of the District Attorney. In place of Judge FREEDMAN, there falls to be elected a Justice of the Superior Court, and in place of Judge LOEW a Justice of the Court of Common Pleas. The term of Recorder HACKETT having expired, the choice of his successor also comes up in November, and on the same ticket there will be elected, under the law of last session, an additional City Judge, to be known as the Judge of the Court of General Sessions. The places of two Marine Court Judges, JOACHIMSEN and GROSS, must also be filled in November. There will be the usual annual election for Coroner, the retiring member of the board being Mr. KESSLER.

In addition to the County ticket, as above enumerated, there will be an election in the nine judicial districts of Manhattan Island, and in the Tenth District of the annexed territory, for Civil Justices, holding office for six years. The scandal which has attended the administration of justice in the minor courts under the present Justices ought to stimulate a very decided effort, on the part of the Bar and the public, to place good men at the head of courts which have long ceased to serve the purpose for which they were instituted, of furnishing cheap and speedy justice for the poor. Twenty-two Aldermen complete the list of local officers to be elected in November. Six of these are elected on a general ticket, and three from each of the four lower Senate districts, and four from the upper one. Under the operation of the minority principle, the Republicans were able at last election to secure eight representatives in the board, and thereby save the tax-payers from the infliction of several millions of new debt. The service which the Republican minority has performed this year ought to insure an increase of their numbers, or at least an accession of anti-Tammany representatives in November.

EXPLORING IN THE ARCTIC.

News reached this country some days since of the progress of the British Arctic Expedition. Those in every country who sympathize with deeds requiring high courage and perseverance, and those who watch closely geographical explorations in all quarters of the globe, will follow this expedition with the deepest interest. We shall probably have chance news of these vessels once or twice more through some whaler who may meet them when they are north of the Danish settlements in Greenland; after that they will sink into the Arctic night, and be heard of no more for some two years, till word comes whether this new expedition is a success or failure. All that science and generous expenditure and long experience in Arctic voyaging could do to equip these English vessels for their dangerous enterprise has been done. The whole problem of an Arctic voyage and of the best methods of reaching the pole is now thoroughly understood.

Yet there are elements of danger which no skill and no experience can thoroughly eliminate. In this expedition, for instance, the severe cold of last Winter may so fill Smith's Sound with ice as utterly to prevent the British Captain from forcing his vessels as far north as the Polaris reached; or he may be caught in the floating ice and be carried a thousand miles to the southward, or he may be summarily "nipped," and the whole expedition return ingloriously in boats or on an ice-floe. For these possibilities, the British Expedition are as well prepared probably, as any party could be. Their vessels will endure very rough handling; the officers understand the currents and the ice-drift as well as any Arctic explorers ever have done, and, with fair good fortune, they may by this time, or a little later, have reached their northernmost point, say 82° north, and have sheltered their ships in some secluded bay and set to work to prepare for a four months' night. For this, too, they are all ready. This once dreaded darkness is no longer such a terror. The curse of Arctic regions—the scurvy—is now averted by a free vegetable diet, prepared in cans. The ship is made comfortable for the Winter. Coal supplies a moderate temperature in the severest season. Parties of men will be at once dispatched to lay in a supply of game. Others will be taking scientific observations, for which every preparation has been made. The most careful instructions from many of the eminent men of science in England have been printed for the use of the officers. The ships have the best library of Arctic literature which can be found. Every working hour of the long night can be used profitably for science. Study, labor, and amusement will make even the one hundred and thirty days' darkness pass quickly. In March the real labor of the expedition begins. This month, on the whole American continent the severest, and often the coldest, must see the beginnings of the expeditions on the ice, with a thermometer at from 30° to 50° below zero. These hardy explorers must wrap themselves in their furs, get out their sledges and dogs, and begin their first investigations for the best track to the pole. All will now depend on their good luck with their dogs, and the skill with which they have contrived their sledges. If no sickness has broken out among these useful animals, and they have been carefully fed during the Winter, they will be all ready for the tremendous labors before them. Then as to sledges, the British explorers have every variety, and upon their merit Arctic "doctors" disagree. Some are made high and broad, and if the ice suddenly becomes water, will float the precious provisions, but immediately tip over if taken over hummocks. Others are low and narrow, shod with bone or ivory, and cut deep into the snow, from which the united strength of men and dogs can hardly drag them. Of these last, some are thirty feet long, and others not larger than a boy's hand-sled, upon which the vigorous naturalists will drag their own collections.

In April the explorers will start for the pole. They are only 450 geographical miles from it, if they have attained 82° north, and they could reach it in May if they traveled as fast as many Arctic voyagers have done with sledges. But such is the difficulty of the region, the distance might be more properly called 2,000 miles. At every rod of a portion of the way are huge ice hummocks over which sled and dogs and men must tumble, then comes deep, soft snow, almost impassable; then ice covered with water, dangerous and slippery; then water itself in deep bays around which they must skirt.

In the day the sun becomes blinding, and in the night they are exposed to a fearful temperature. Some become snow-blind, and some are frost-bitten, some are lame or sick. The dogs give out, the provisions left at different depots at last fail, the sledges break and cannot be mended, and the ice-boats are abandoned. Scientific instruments can not be carried, even guns are left behind, until at last, utterly exhausted, the brave men having lost some of their best, return defeated. Such is the usual Arctic experience. May the fate of the British party be more cheerful.

A LEGEND OF LEGS.

There was present at a camp-meeting held at Ocean Grove last Summer a Methodist minister with an unusual leg. Precisely what was the matter with this leg cannot as yet be positively affirmed, since the authorities upon the subject differ—some claiming that the leg was paralyzed and others that it was merely stiffened in consequence of early breakages. Indeed, there is also another form of the story in which the minister is represented to have had two abnormal legs, out of neither of which could he obtain any sort of real satisfaction. Whatever may be the exact truth as to the details of the story, there is no doubt that the minister in question was very unfortunate in point of legs, and that no physicians had been able to put any substantial and permanent repairs upon him.

As this unfortunate minister was sitting in his sea-side tent, and perhaps entertaining gloomy doubts as to the universal propriety of the system of an itinerant ministry, he was visited by a Methodist lady accompanied by a band of sympathizing friends. The lady announced that she intended to try her skill upon the leg—or legs—which the medical faculty had abandoned as being beyond repair. She therefore laid her hands upon the leg—or legs—(and we might as well assume that the minister's entire set of legs was practically useless)—and with the aid of her body-guard of friends prayed long and fervently. The prayer being ended, the minister was ordered to arise and walk, which he promptly did, and which he has ever since continued to do. Indeed, he has recently risen to explain, in a pamphlet of considerable length and much exultation, that his legs are now everything that a Christian minister could reasonably ask for, unless he intended to walk for heavy wagers, and that the sudden cure which he has experienced was clearly a special and genuine miracle.

It was the publication of this pamphlet which aroused the strong disapprobation of certain other Methodist ministers. Had the minister who was cured of lameness gone home and enjoyed his legs in silence all would have been well. When, however, he publicly insisted that he had been the subject of a miracle, he called down upon himself the stern disapprobation of those of his brethren who hold that modern miracles come under the general head of Popish practices, and are hence to be sternly opposed. At a meeting of the Methodist ministers of this City, last Monday, a particularly aggressive minister read a long paper on the Ocean Grove miracle, in which he maintained, first, that the legs in question were never useless, and secondly, that they had not been cured, since their proprietor still entertained fears that he might be again reduced to crutches.

It was a pity that, having thus covered the whole ground by an argument as broad as that of the borrower of the legendary kettle, who denied that he had ever borrowed a kettle, and moreover asserted that the kettle had a hole in it when it was loaned to him, the decrier of the miraculous legs went on to show that cures are frequently effected by the imagination. He himself, so he asserted, had once cured a certain loud-voiced public singer of a severe headache, which would otherwise have prevented him from singing at a concert, by pressing a silver dollar to his forehead; and that, on another occasion, he had instantaneously cured a confirmed case of inflammatory rheumatism with a pair of steel knitting-needles; though whether the knitting-needles were administered internally or applied as a salve he omitted to state. How he reconciled the healing of the singer with his duty as a Christian philanthropist is a question that will puzzle the unfortunate people who were present at the concert which the minister's machinations with a silver dollar rendered possible. It will also occur to most people that to represent knitting-needles as a specific for rheumatism savors somewhat of the vain tricks of the quack physician. Still, it may be conceded that his motives were good, and it is quite certain that he has demonstrated, what really needed no demonstration, that extraordinary cures have frequently been wrought solely through the patient's imagination.

There is probably no reason why we should not accept as true the main points which the Ocean Grove minister has published in his history of his personal legs. Very probably they were originally a very wretched pair of legs, and very probably they became useful in consequence of the scene which took place in his tent. Still his doubting brethren are right in declining to believe that a genuine miracle was wrought in his case. The cure was precisely like the cures which there is no reason to doubt that the Zouave JACOB really performed in Paris some years ago. Pious Protestants will scarcely be inclined to admit that the Zouave worked miracles, and until it is shown that Methodist legs are intrinsically difficult to cure, we need not suppose that any greater power was expended on the Ocean Grove minister's legs than was lavished on the irreligious legs of JACOB'S Parisian patients.

HIDDEN TREASURE.

As it is about time that somebody should begin again the fruitless search for the buried treasures of the Incas, we are not surprised to learn that information as to the location of that hidden wealth is in American hands. It is whispered that an American gentleman, more or less learned in geomancy and other occult sciences, has received in some mysterious manner all the data needed to guide their possessor to the exact spot where the lost gold mines of Peru and the buried treasures of the Temple of Pachacamac are to be found. It is a matter of history that when the Spaniards had seized upon the person of ATAHUALLPA, the captive Inca offered to fill his prison-room with gold, in bars and vessels, nine feet from the floor. He also agreed to fill a smaller room adjoining twice full with silver. The offer was accepted, but for various reasons the ransom came in slowly. The cupidity of the Spaniards was inflamed by the spectacle of vases and urns of solid gold, in vast numbers, some of them of as much as one hundred pounds weight. They grew impatient for a division of this booty, and when the Temple of the Sun at Cuzco had been partly stripped of its sacred vessels, an expedition was sent to the City of Pachacamac by PIZARRO at the suggestion of ATAHUALLPA. It arrived too late. The priests had fled, having secreted the immense stores of gold, silver, and gems that had been accumulated in the temple. The Spaniards carried back what would have been considered a prodigious sum if the conquerors had not by this time had their heads turned by the almost fabulous amount of riches about them. The shameful chapter of the history of the Spanish in America which ends with the murder of the hapless Inca of Peru, relates the division of his incomplete ransom. The gold brought together by the Inca's orders was valued at fifteen and one-half millions of dollars. The value of the silver was less than this, but it was never pretended to be accurately estimated.

It is known that the natives, seeing the store set by the Spaniards upon the metals which they had never coined, but had used for ornament and manufactures, hid their gold and silver in the earth, in caves and burial-places. Some of this was found, we know; but it is believed that incalculable sums are yet undiscovered. The tradition is that the treasure of Pachacamac was buried in one of the royal tombs, the mouth of which was sealed, and the whole covered with earth, rocks, and trees, so that all trace of the entrance disappeared. The same was done with the gold mines near by, and the people who were employed to secrete these stores of wealth were sacrificed by the priests, with whom remained the secret of these hiding-places. From generation to generation, for three centuries, this valuable information has been kept in the priesthood of ancient Peru, the last of the line having died within this century, aged precisely one hundred years, as we are informed and asked to believe. It is the secret which this remnant of an ancient priesthood unloosed from his dying hold which is to guide its latest possessor to the hidden treasure of the Incas. The story is as good as a fairy tale; it is Monte Cristo over again.

The Spanish booty in Peru was more prodigious than any of which history gives account. In the Temple of the Sun, at Cuzco, they gathered about as much gold as that paid in the ransom of ATAHUALLPA. This was all in plates, bars, statues, and vessels. Within the century, probably, nearly all of this weight of metal which reached Europe found its way into circulation through the mints. Occasionally we hear of golden images and utensils being exhumed from graves or ruins. The ransacking of grave-yards at Chiriqui, in Central America, and near Quito, South America, has paid explorers richly in effigies of gold. Similar "finds" have been made at Palenque and Uxmal. The ruined cities of Asia Minor, Thrace, and Cyprus yet yield an infrequent golden prize to the antiquarian searcher. In our own country, the buried treasures of the freebooters of comparatively modern times have been sought with great diligence. Very little of this has ever been brought to light, although there are numberless stories adrift of chests and pots of gold found in out-of-the-way places along the coasts of the Atlantic and the Gulf of Mexico. A chest of old gold coin was found lately, in San Francisco, by some laborers who were digging a sewer. It is quite authentically stated that a keg of gold and silver coin was exhumed near Galveston some years since; and in 1840 a deposit of old Spanish "pieces of eight," French crowns, and other silver coin, about two thousand in all, was found in Penobscot, Me. These were supposed to be part of the buried treasure of that Baron DE ST. CASTINE, whose story has been immortalized in LONGFELLOW'S verse.

But, after all, the total yield of discovered treasure in coin is ridiculously small, take the world together, when we consider how much pains and labor have been spent in searching. The more hopeful prospect is held out to those who hunt for abandoned mines of ore. Where are the gold mines from which the Incas drew their vast stores? Gold and silver are still produced in Peru; but the natives whom PIZARRO and AMALGRO found there had only the crudest forms of mining implements. They worked unscientifically and were ignorant of the use of quicksilver in saving gold by amalgamation. They picked up the precious metal from beds of streams, or dug it out of seams in mountain sides. It is highly probable that these half-touched mines are yet to be rediscovered. The same is true of the gold and silver mines of Mexico. If we admit that the ancient Ophir to which King SOLOMON sent ships for gold, ivory, peacocks, and apes, was in Arabia, where are the mines from which the precious stuff was extracted? Nobody knows of any such in Arabia now. India and Mongolia hoarded gold and silver, and the ancient cities of the great Khan were renowned for their golden-roofed temples and palaces. But there are no silver mines in India or China now, and the gold of the latter country comes from afar. Laurium, in ancient Greece, had a rich deposit of silver, and a reported discovery of unworked ore in these long-unused mines, lately, brought France, Italy, and Greece together in an avaricious squabble. The London Spectator, commenting upon this affair, pointed out the fact that old mines in Greece, Sardinia, Spain, Morocco, and on the Black Sea, might be re-discovered and worked to great profit. It is evident that modern appliances and scientific processes in mining can make much of the imperfectly-worked leavings of ancient miners. It is possible, even probable, that veins of prodigious richness in gold, silver, copper, and tin may yet be found in regions where we have heretofore assumed that past generations had exhausted the treasures of the earth.

AMUSEMENTS.

THE TITIENS CONCERTS.

As a misapprehension on the part of the public as to the opening of the sale of seats for these entertainments brought many persons on a fruitless errand to Steinway Hall yesterday, it may be well to mention here that the sale of seats does not commence until this morning week. On Tuesday next, however, subscriptions for the full series of concerts, or for one-half thereof, will be received at Steinway Hall; and as the difference in the cost of single seats and seats for the season is quite large, the first day's business will, no doubt, keep the attachés of the box-office decidedly busy.

POLITICAL NOTES.

Mr. Schurz says he has come back to America more strongly opposed to inflation than ever before.

The Democratic State Committee will organize on Friday, and will have its head-quarters in Albany.

Democratic Congressman Henry B. Payne, of Ohio, refuses to take the stump, because he is opposed to inflation.

A very violent and outspoken anti-bondholding Democrat in Maine always sends his little son to sel l his coupons.

The Springfield (Ohio) Republic says: "We need honest money, and the people should make it honest—and make it honestly."

Elizur Wright offers himself as a candidate for the Senate of Massachusetts, and thinks his knowledge of insurance would enable him to benefit the laboring classes.

Gen. W. H. H. Davis, editor of the Doylestown (Penn.) Democrat, condemns the Erie platform. But he supports the candidates. So his condemnation does not effect much.

The Michigan State Reform Central Committee has issued a call for a hard-money convention in Detroit, Oct. 14, to elect delegates to the national convention in Cincinnati.

The three candidates for Congress in Oregon, Republican, Democratic, and Independent, opened the campaign by speaking at the same meeting at Jacksonville on the 7th inst.

A Democratic paper in Maryland, while professing its desire to support the party nominations, announces that it does not intend to defend extravagance or lobby fifteen per-centers.

Judge Mullin has decided that Mr. Charles R. Skinner, Republican candidate for Assembly in Jefferson County, is not eligible, as he is a member of the Board of Education of Watertown.

The educational qualification for voters in Connecticut is shamefully evaded in Democratic towns, and the Republicans intend to see what they can do about it at the town elections in October.

Mr. S. B. Reid, before and for some time after the war the editor of the Montgomery (Ala.) Advertiser, a bitter war newspaper, and considered the organ of the late William L. Yancey, is now a Republican.

The Rochester Union intimates that its candidate for Controller fell from grace in going over to the Republicans on questions growing out of slavery and the war, but it is kind enough to him to admit that he has since abundantly atoned for his error.

Massachusetts will have four State conventions before its election—the Democratic on Wednesday, 22d inst.; the Republican, Sept. 29; the Prohibitory, Oct. 6, and the Labor Reform, Oct. 6. All are to be held in Worcester except the Prohibitory, which will meet in Boston.

The Reading Times says that the Pennsylvania Democracy talk of the Government discrediting its own money, and yet the most prominent Democrat in the Erie Convention, and the Chairman of their State Committee, Hendrick B. Wright, voted for this very measure while in Congress.

The Mobile Register says that the State of Alabama, to-day Democratic and free from the rule of the Whites, Spencers, and the colored statesmen, is "engaged in making a Constitution for its own governance, and next year will join her sisters in putting an end to the most diabolical Government that ever cursed and ruined a civilized people."

The Syracuse Standard says that when the Democratic State nominations were completed Congressman Walker, a member of the State Committee, rushed into a crowded bar-room and enthusiastically exclaimed: "Well, after a hard struggle, the Democrats have succeeded in carrying the convention; we've got one majority on the State ticket."

The Utica Herald denies the assertion that Gen. Spinner is an inflationist, saying: "It had previously been shown to be groundless by an interview in the Herald, wherein he distinctly declared that his financial plan was not one of inflation or depreciation. It is a plan to bring the currency to par with gold—to make it 'interconvertible with coin'—to use the language of the Democratic platform. It is not a plan of which we approve, but it is a plan looking toward the same result for which we and the Republican Party are striving."

OBITUARY.

PRINCE ADALBERT OF BAVARIA.

A few weeks ago the cable announced the death of Prince Charles Theodore, great uncle of King Louis of Bavaria, and now the death of another member of the house of Wittelsbach, Prince Adalbert Guillaume George Louis, uncle of the King, is reported. He was the son of the first King Louis born at Munich on the 18th of July, 1828. He married, in 1856, Amélie Phillipine-Pilar, Infanta of Spain, and four children were born to them. He was a Lieutenant General and held honorary associations with a regiment of Bavarian cuirassiers, but the highest honor possible to Prince Adalbert, in the natural course of his family line, just escaped him. Otho, the ex-King of Greece, who died in 1867, was his elder brother, called to the throne of Greece in 1832. By a family arrangement, ratified by the great powers in 1852, his crown was to pass to Adalbert, in the event of his proving childless, Prince Luitpold, the third son of King Louis I., having renounced his claims thereto. Otho's marriage with the Protestant Princess Amelia of Oldenburg was a childless one, and Prince Adalbert would have been King of Greece but for the revolution of 1862, which dethroned Otho and broke up the family succession.

ROBERT PERKINS.

Robert Perkins, father of Hosea B. and the late James P. Perkins, died in Dover, N. H., on the 18th inst., in the ninetieth year of his age. He was the last of a family of six brothers, who were noted for their enterprise and integrity. During the war of 1812 he was a contractor for conveying supplies from Portsmouth to the frontier. Notwithstanding his extreme age, he retained full possession of his faculties to the last, his memory being perfect up to within a few moments of his death. He was widely known, and leaves a large circle of friends among the citizens of his native Sate.

HORATIO STONE, THE SCULPTOR.

Intelligence has been received in this city announcing the death of Horatio Stone, the distinguished sculptor, which occurred at Carrara, Italy, on or about the 11th inst. He had been sick for some time with Roman fever, which gave way to dysentery of a malignant type, and from this death finally ensued.

OBITUARY NOTES.

Dr. Cyrus Weeks, of this City, who met a fearful death on Monday at the Hoboken Depot in attempting to get upon a train after it was in motion, was born in Sandbornton, N. H., seventy years ago. He was a graduate of the Medical Department of Harvard College, and immediately upon the receipt of his diploma began practice in this City, about the same time becoming a member of the New-York Academy of Medicine. His practice in this City he continued over a period of forty years, and, it is said, without absenting himself from his patients during that time more than two days at any time. His funeral will take place to-morrow from his late residence in Bloomfield.

HURRICANES IN THE WEST INDIES.

EFFECT OF RECENT HEAVY WEATHER—VESSELS BLOWN ASHORE AND BUILDINGS DESTROYED.

From Our Own Correspondent.

HAVANA, Thursday, Sept. 16, 1875.

From the threatening indications of the weather the past few days it was feared that the hurricane predicted for this year was about to burst over Havana. Telegrams received from St. Thomas and Porto Rico reported that a hurricane had commenced about the 8th inst. in the Windward Islands, and had raged with fury, disabling a number of vessels and casting many ashore on the Barbados, St. Vincent, and Dominique Islands. The red triangular signal of dangerous weather was raised at the office of the Captain of the Port, and the usual precautions taken in this harbor to prevent any injury from its expected visit. The bath-houses all along the San Lazaro beach were taken down, the floating baths towed up the harbor, the vessels of war changed their anchorage to a safer nook of the harbor and got up steam, other vessels took down their upper spars, and the bum-boats of the harbor were all pulled up. Dispatches from Santiago de Cuba reported a hurricane raging there on Monday, and from Cienfuegos and Cardinas that the falling of barometers and other indications seemed to show that it was approaching. On Monday afternoon we experienced a heavy gale and severe rain-storm, which lasted throughout the night. The vortex of the hurricane must have crossed to the eastward of Cienfuegos and Cardenas and its damages been confined to the eastern part of the island. The observations made at the Belen College of this city by the Jesuit Fathers give as the result the passage of a cyclone of "great dimensions," comparable to the whirlwind storms of Europe and the United States, of scanty gyratory velocity, and of an incomplete vortical calm of considerable diameter. It probably entered the island in the vicinity of Cape Cruz, and held a west north west course over the island, passing off somewhat to the north of this city, which in its passage described the chord of its vortical circle of calm. The Fathers state that it was one of the mildest of hurricanes, and an exceptional case in the history of hurricanes in these Antilles. No damage occurred among the shipping in the harbor, and nothing beyond blowing down a few rickety wooden sheds and ill-hung signs throughout the city. The weather has cleared off finely, and last night the sky was clear, with a bright, full tropical moon.

A CHALLENGE FROM THE MOHAWK.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

Observing the remarks concerning the Mohawk in your editorial upon yachting in this morning's issue, and with a view of ascertaining if the yachting fraternity coincide with the opinions therein expressed, I will, during the next month, upon any day when an eight-knot breeze, or upward, is blowing, sail any yacht—keel or centre-board—twenty miles to windward and back, outside of Sandy Hook Light-ship provided that notice shall be given to your newspaper before the 1st of October.

I beg that you will give this as prominent a place in your journal as was given to the disparaging article of this morning on centre-board yachts.

By granting me this favor you will oblige
WILLIAM T. GARNER.

LATEST NEWS BY CABLE.

THE TURKISH PROVINCES.

THE VOTE ON THE QUESTION OF WAR IN THE SERVIAN LEGISLATURE—NEUTRALITY LIKELY TO BE MAINTAINED.

KRAGUGEVATZ, Sept. 21.—The address adopted by the Skovptschina has been sent to Belgrade, the capital, where it will be officially published. The full text is not yet known. There was only one draft submitted to the Skovptschina, and this was adopted at the first sitting, the Deputies voting against war and leaving to the wisdom of Prince Milan and his Government the decision of the question. Thirty-three were nominees of the Government. Of the remainder elected representatives forty-four declared in favor of and thirty-eight against war. This, however, does not affect the result. The Government now has its hands free, and it may be considered certain that Servia for the present, at least, will maintain neutrality.

THE CAUSE OF THE INSURRECTION IN NORTHERN BOSNIA—WANTON ARRESTS BY THE TURKS.

LONDON, Sept. 21.—The Times this morning publishes a letter dated Vienna, which contains some interesting details of the insurrection in Northern Bosnia, and of the emigrants who have taken refuge in Austria. It says the cause of the sudden failure of the movement is attributed to the fact that the insurgents were not prepared, were without arms and amunition, and also that many villages remained passive.

Two Austrian Commissioners have been sent to ascertain from the fugitives the causes of the insurrection. The latter state that the Turks, fearing that the Herzegovinian insurrection would spread to Bosnia, arrested the elders of the villages and some of the most influential men, under the pretext that they were the accomplices of brigands. Thirty were thus arrested in one village, and were only released upon the payment of a large sum of money. Upon a threatened repetition of these outrages the villagers fled to the mountains with their families and flocks, and prepared to resist. The rising assumed the character of retaliation up to a date as recent as the 18th of August, but the next day the insurgents fled in consequence of the mass of emigration which had set in. The fugitives disclaimed any connection with the Herzegovinian insurgents, and declared they never should have thought of rising if they had not been provoked.

WASHINGTON NOTES.

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, Sept. 21.

THE ARREST OF CHARLES G. FISHER.

Charles G. Fisher, late Assistant United States District Attorney, who was arrested late Saturday night on a charge of stealing the appeal bonds and papers in forty District cases which had been appealed from the Police Court to the Criminal Court, waived an examination this morning, and was held to answer before the Grand Jury, now in session. The Police officers have recovered not only the papers charged to have been stolen, but an additional number of equal importance. Fisher had placed them in the possession of another party, from whom they were obtained, and the object was to realize money on them. The Revised Statutes provide as a punishment for such offense a fine of $2,000 or hard labor for three years, or both in the discretion of the court. The accused is the son of Judge Fisher, late United States Attorney for the District of Columbia. Indictments and other court papers are in the custody of the Clerk of the Criminal Court, and are always jealously guarded. They are never allowed to be taken from the office except by the United States Attorney, or his assistants and the attorneys for the District, and only in rare cases did these officers ever take them from the room in which they were filed. During the usual recess of the court and several days before its reassembling it was noticed that Fisher spent considerable time looking over the files. He stated that he was simply taking time to prepare business. The clerks had no suspicion that he was attending to any other than his legitimate vocation. Since he went out of office, however, and the discovery that the papers were gone, the above-mentioned circumstances caused suspicion to be directed to him, and resulted in his arrest. Fisher, in default of $4,000 bail, was committed to jail.

POSTMASTER BURT.

Postmaster Burt, of Boston, arrived here this morning, and had a long conversation with the Postmaster General. Mr. Burt stopped to see the President at Long Branch, on his way to Washington. The Postmaster General states that Burt assured him in the conference held to-day that his official bond was on its way to Washington, and would arrive and be filed with the department before he left the city. The Postmaster General declined to say whether that would be satisfactory to the department or not, or whether it would stop any further proceedings in the case.

APPOINTMENTS.

The President has made the following appointments: C. P. Kimball, of New-York, to be Commissioner Substitute to the Centennial Exhibition at Philadelphia; William F. Green, Collector of Internal Revenue for the Sixth District of Tennessee; Amos L. Frost, Collector of Internal Revenue for the consolidated district known as the Fourth District of California; William Caffrey, of Nebraska, Receiver of Public Moneys in the Wyoming Land District; Frederick W. Somner, Postmaster at Sherman, Texas; Thomas Maxwell, Postmaster at Saugerties, N. Y. He has also signed the commission of Alexander White, of Alabama, to be Chief Justice of Utah Territory.

THE ODD-FELLOWS.

SESSIONS OF THE GRAND LODGE OF THE UNITED STATES AT INDIANAPOLIS, IND.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 21.—The Grand Lodge of the United States, Independent Order of Odd-fellows, reassembled at 9 o'clock. Through the Grand officers of the jurisdiction of the German Empire fraternal greetings were received from the order there. A resolution was offered regarding the admission of unmarried daughters of the scarlet degree to the degree of Rebekah, the only restriction being that they be over eighteen years of age. It was referred to the Committee on Degrees of Rebekah.

A resolution was presented by Representative Harcourt, of Texas, in regard to the order in the Indian Territory, looking to the establishment of a Grand Lodge there. It was referred to the Legislative Committee.

Past Grand Sire Nicholson, of the Special Committee on Grand Officers' Reports, submitted a report referring the different subjects set forth therein to the appropriate committees for consideration, which was adopted.

Representative Ryan, of Wisconsin, moved that the grand body take from the table the report of the Committee on the Degree of Rebekah, appearing on page 6,278 of the revised journal, and refer it back to said committee, for further consideration, which motion was adopted.

The matter is as follows: That on and after Jan. 1, 1875, the wives of all Odd-fellows in good standing shall be eligible to membership in Rebekah Degree Lodges in the same manner as to application, reference to Committee on Investigation, and balloting, as in the case of application for initiation in subordinate lodges.

Quite a number of other resolutions regarding the interests of the degree of Rebekah were submitted and referred to the appropriate committee.

Representative Lamberton, of Pennsylvania, moved that Gov. Hendricks, Mayor Caven, Senator Morton, and Past Grand Representative Colfax be respectfully requested to furnish copies of their addresses at the Odd-fellows' reception yesterday, and that, together with the addresses of the Grand Sire and Grand Secretary, they be published in the revised journal, which was adopted.

Representative Barrows, of Mississippi, offered the subjoined resolution, which was referred to the Legislative Committee:

Resolved, That when a member of a subordinate lodge renounces Odd-fellowship the lodge of which he was a member shall not be required to give him any further attention, nor shall he be entitled to dues or benefits of any kind.

Representative Lamberton, of Pennsylvania, moved that the Grand Lodge go into secret session, which was carried, and the supreme body continued this up to the time of recess.

Before the adjournment yesterday P. G. Sire Nicholson, of Pennsylvania, offered a series of resolutions looking to a grand national celebration of the order at large at Philadelphia during the Centennial year, and that the invitation of the Grand Bodies of Pennsylvania to the Grand Lodges of the United States to hold the next session there be accepted, and that the 20th of September, 1876, at Philadelphia, be designated as the time and place of a great jubilee gathering of the order throughout the national jurisdiction, and that the said date be substituted for the usual 26th of April anniversary. Referred to a special committee of nine.

W. C. Park, D. D. G., of the Sandwich Islands, was invited to be present at the sessions.

There are hundreds of prominent members of the order here from all parts of the country, who have come to visit the Grand Lodge.

THE CINCINNATI EXPOSITION.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Sept. 21.—Public interest in the Cincinnati Exposition is steadily on the increase, as shown by the large percentage of gain in receipts as compared with last year. The principal feature of to-day was in the horticultural department, where, in the fourth floral display large premiums were offered for cut flowers and gladiolis. Home florists took the premiums in the former class, and in the latter the highest awards were made to James Vick, of Rochester, N. Y., who exhibited nearly one hundred and fifty varieties. On Friday next an aggregate of $1,200 will be offered in premiums for different varieties of floral display, and it is expected that these unusually large prizes will produce an exhibition unparalleled in America.

ANOTHER RACE TO BE ROWED BY COULTER AND MORRIS.

PITTSBURG, Penn., Sept. 21.—The friends of Henry Coulter and Evan Morris met at the St. Charles Hotel this evening, to arrange preliminaries for another match, as Coulter feels very much dissatisfied with the result of the late contest, claiming that he lost the race by the bad steering of his guide-boat. After considerable discussion, a match was made for a five-mile single scull race for $500 a side, to take place on Oct. 16, over the same course, on the Allegheny River, as the last race. It is understood that Coulter will pull this race in the scull formerly owned by George Brown, and which will be brought here from Halifax for that purpose.

HORSE DISEASE AT POUGHKEEPSIE.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Sept. 21.—Several horses at the Driving Park are affected by a disease similar to the epizootic. It seems to concentrate in the throat, causing much distress. Reports from the interior state that the disease has broken out in several of the towns.

CATTLE DISEASE IN MASSACHUSETTS.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Sept. 21.—The cattle disease has broken out in Wilbraham, and the herd of D. B. Merrick are rapidly dying off.

THE INTERNATIONAL TOURNAMENT—THE MATCH BETWEEN THE BRITISH OFFICERS AND PHILADELPHIANS.

From Our Own Correspondent.

PHILADELPHIA, Tuesday, Sept. 21, 1875.

The weather to-day was exactly suited to the players, though rather too cold for occupants of the grand stand. A vast multitude witnessed the game, and the grand stand was thronged with ladies. Five minutes after 12 o'clock Tallents and Carpenter went to the wickets they had left when "time" was called last evening, and Dan Newhall opened the bowling from the upper end. His third ball Tallents drove for a single, and his next scattered Carpenter's bails. Singleton went in and was bowled by the second ball Dan Newhall sent him; 11 wickets for 98 runs. This ended the first innings of the British Officers' Team, and at the fall of their last wicket they were 132 runs behind their opponents. At 1:10 o'clock Lieuts. Turner and Tallents went to the wickets. C. Newhall started the bowling from the lower end, and Turnour was caught at point by Magee off the first ball delivered. Capt. Wallace supplied his place. Tallents got a single off Dan, and hit C. Newhall to mid-on for another. Wallace tipped a one behind the wicket, and got a three to long-on off Dan. Tallents sent the next ball to the same place for a couple, and then drove Dan over the club-house piazza for four. The fourth ball of Charlie Newhall's next over Wallace launched directly into the hands of Tom Hargreaves at mid-off. Two wickets for 13 runs. Lieut. Cummings went next to the bat; Tallents drove Dan to the off for a single, and, after a maiden over, Cummings drove Dan to long-off for a brace. Tallents then drove Charlie to mid-on for 4, and cut his next ball for 2. Cummings got a pair off Dan; Tallents then drove Charlie to mid on for 4, and cut his next ball for a doublet. Cummings sent Dan away for 2; Tallents knocked Charlie to square leg for a single, and in the latter's next over drove him clean over the club-house for six, a hit that merited and received great applause. Cummings then cut Charlie for 2, drove him to mid-on for a single, and on the next, the twenty-seventh, over Charlie and Dan changed ends. Cummings sent Charlie's first ball to square leg for 5; Tallents drove his second for a single, and then tipped the first ball Dan sent him directly into George Newhall's hands at the wicket. He had put twenty-three runs cleverly together. Three wickets for forty runs. Lieut. Browne went in next, and the band played "God Save the Queen" to inspirit him.

The dinner-bell then rang, and play was not resumed until 3:10 by which time a very much larger number of spectators had arrived. Browne nicked C. Newhall for a pair; Cummings got a single, cut a clever two, and sent the next ball to long leg for a quartet. The batsmen then put a few doubles and singles together in good style, but when the score had been run up to 61, Browne was caught at the wicket by George Newhall off C. Newhall's bowling. Capt. Taylor then went in, cut Charlie for a single, and shortly afterward drove him for a pair. Cummings gave a fly catch to Tom Hargreaves at long leg, on the forty-seventh over; but, considering the fielder, for a wonder it was missed. Cummings then cut Dan to the off cleverly for three, and got a pair off Charlie. The bowling was decidedly good at this time, but the batsmen, nevertheless, kept piling up the score with singles and doubles. Then Cummings drove Charlie over the piazza railing for four; Taylor drove Dan to the on for two. The next ball to the off for a single, and the last ball of the over for an easy three. Cummings, after hitting a pair to long leg, which was beautifully fielded by Bob Newhall, gave a fly catch to Magee at mid-wicket which was badly muffed, and was loudly cheered as the run obtained turned the first hundred. Cummings made a single and then slashed Charlie to long leg and Bob Newhall caught him on the fly. Lieut. Cummings had put 43 together by brilliant play and he was warmly received on his return to head-quarters—102 runs for five wickets. Lieut. Farmer went next to the crease and drove the first ball Dan sent him for 4, but was then caught at the wicket by George Newhall off D. Newhall's bowling—106 runs for six wickets. Lieut. Howden went in next and drove Dan to long leg for a pair; Taylor drove Charlie to long-off for 3, and Howden, after scoring a couple of singles, was clean bowled by C. Newhall.—seven wickets for 113 runs. Lieut. Singleton followed and he and Capt. Taylor ran up the score until the gap was closed between the competing teams. When 136 runs had been made Taylor was caught by George Newhall at the wicket off Charlie's bowling. He retired with a score of 29, which he had gained by excellent play. Lieut. Tennant went in, and Dan sent him a short twister that took his wicket immediately. Singleton then drove Charlie to long on for 2, and the next ball to long off for 3. Davies hit Charlie under the reporters' stand for triplets; Singleton got a square leg hit for 3, and then D. Newhall took his wicket with a "corkscrew"—153 runs for 10 wickets. Lieut. Carpenter assumed the forlorn hope, and he put a few together in artistic style, as did also Davies, who sent Charlie into the trees at long field on for 5. Carpenter finally lost his wicket to Dan Newhall when the score stood at 184. The game will be concluded to-morrow. Appended is the score in full:

THE TURF.

TROTTING AT THE PROSPECT PARK FAIR GROUNDS.

The great colt match for $4,000 came off at the Prospect Park Fair Grounds yesterday, the contestants being Capt. Isaiah Rynder's b. c. Killarney, by Aberdeen, and A. T. Huntington's b. c. McGregor, by Dr. Parmeley. The match had created a great deal of interest among breeders, and consequently there was a large attendance of horsemen interested in the breeding of trotting colts. Notwithstanding the fact that McGregor was handicapped with Carl Burr's weight, he was the favorite at nearly two to one over his competitor before the start. In scoring for the first heat, McGregor was repeatedly held back, and they came up seven times without receiving the word. The eighth attempt, however, was a "go," and Killarney took the lead and broke, but was immediately brought down to his work. Going round the turn, McGregor made a bad break, and Killarney led him ten lengths at the quarter-pole, and kept the gap open at the half-mile pole. On the lower turn McGregor closed, and at the three-quarters Killarney led him six lengths. The former came up the homestretch very fast. When nearing the goal, Killarney left his feet and McGregor was at his wheel when they passed under the string, the judges giving the heat to Killarney, time, 2:40½. Killarney was now the favorite at $60 to $55, and on the fifth attempt they got off, Killarney leading by a head; but on the turn McGregor broke and Killarney led eight lengths at the quarter. On the backstretch Killarney broke, and four lengths of daylight separated them at the half-mile pole. On the lower turn McGregor gained very rapidly, and but half a length of daylight separated them at the three-quarter pole. There was a close struggle up the stretch, and when nearing the stand Burr touched McGregor with the whip, when he broke into a run, passing under the string a head in front of Killarney, but the judges awarded the heat and race to the latter. Time—2:41¾. The backers of McGregor were sadly disappointed at the result. He is no doubt a faster colt than Killarney, but was unable to give the latter from 65 to 70 pounds weight.

BASE-BALL.

The champion Flyaway Club, of this City, played a game with the Alaska Club, also of this City, on the Capitoline Grounds yesterday afternoon. It was the first game of their championship series. The playing of the Alaskas was very good, and they would have won the game but for some unfortunate errors on the part of Cowell, short stop, and Rourke, at second base, in the fifth inning, which gave their opponents 8 runs. Previous to that time the Flyaways had not scored a run, and in the subsequent innings they only added 3 runs. The game was won by the Flyaways by a score of 11 to 6.

The Knickerbocker and Ridgewood Ice Company nines, both of Brooklyn, played a game on the Capitoline Grounds yesterday afternoon. It was won by the Knickerbockers by a score of 35 to 17.

There will be a professional game on the Union Grounds, in Brooklyn, to-morrow afternoon between the Hartford Club and the Atlantics, of Brooklyn. This afternoon the Staten Island Club and the Chelseas, of Brooklyn, will play a game on the Camp Washington Grounds, in New-Brighton, Staten Island. The Athletics, of this City, will play with the Randolph Club, of Dover, N. J., this afternoon.

The Hoboken Base-ball Club defeated the Olympics, at Paterson, N. J., yesterday, by a score of 3 to 2. Twelve innings were played inside of two hours.

A COMING RACE ON THE HARLEM.

A four-oared race between picked fours representing the Nassau Boat Club and the New-York Athletic Club will be rowed on the Harlem River next Saturday. The distance will be three miles, straight away from the powder schooner, near the railroad bridge, to Morris' Dock, above High Bridge. The Athletics will row the four who were recently defeated by the Atalantas. Unusual interest is manifested in the race between these rival organizations. In the betting the Nassau four are the favorites at $100 to $80. The crews have been in training on the Harlem for the past three weeks, and the race promises to be an exciting one.

NEW-JERSEY'S STATE FAIR.

PRESIDENT GRANT ON THE GROUNDS—THE RACES OF YESTERDAY.

The New-Jersey State Fair was continued yesterday on the grounds at Waverly. The attendance was very large, and a number of handsome equipages were upon the fair grounds. In anticipation of the visit of President Grant, a number of prominent citizens were present. The crowd did not begin to arrive until about noon, and from that hour till 4 o'clock the visitors poured in one unbroken mass through the gates. Every train on the Pennsylvania Road from both directions carried its full complement of visitors, while thousands from the adjacent country made their way on foot or in their carriages to the exhibition. It is computed that at least twenty thousand persons were present during the day.

Shortly after 2 o'clock seven carriages, which attracted the attention of the visitors, rolled through the gates to a position in front of the "President's tent." The first of the carriages was occupied by President Grant, United States Senator Frelinghuysen, ex-Congressman George A. Halsey, and ex-Congressman Amos Clark, Jr., who is President of the State Agricultural Society. President Grant was escorted by Mr. Clark to the tent on the knoll, where he was formally welcomed by Gen. N. N. Halstead, Vice President of the society. The President was accompanied by his son, Col. Frederick Grant. They remained long enough to witness a couple of the heats of the races, which had just begun, and then returned to Elizabeth.

The afternoon sport consisted of the races, of which three had been arranged. The first was a race open to four-year olds, and was won by the bay mare Jennie in three straight heats. The second was open to running horses. There were three entries, won in two heats by the bay gelding Daniel O'Connell. There was also a race open to gentlemen's roadsters from all parts of the State. A gentleman named Brisbin was the only contestant. He walked his horse over the course, in order to secure the premium. Considerable interest was manifested in the fourth race, between horses that had not beaten 2:58. There was sixteen or seventeen entries, but only six horses started. Six heats were run without deciding the contest. John Bogert's black gelding George and Sidney A. Beard's sorrel gelding Peril had won two heats each after five had been trotted, and it was conceded that one or the other of them would be the winner. They contested a sixth heat. The horses kept neck and neck most of the distance around the course, but on the homestretch the black horse gained a little on his opponent and passed under the line a neck in advance of him. The horses broke several times while going over the course, and the judges declared the heat off and announced that it would be trotted to-day at 1 o'clock.

JOEL W. MASON, Chairman.

The report was unanimously readopted. Reports of progress from the Financial and Printing Committees were received and entered upon the minutes.

Hon. William A. Darling, on behalf of the Committee on Resolutions, presented the following for the consideration of the meeting:

Resolved, As the sense of the Republican Central Committee of the City and County of New-York, that the action of the Republican State Convention recently held at Saratoga was in all respects eminently wise and proper, and commends itself not only to the approval of this committee, but to all Republicans and citizens who are in favor of an honest and economical administration of public affairs.

Resolved, That we recognize in the nominees of the convention men who have been selected for their known ability and integrity rather than for partisan service; and we hereby pledge the Republican electors represented in this committee our cordial support, promising them every effort to secure their election.

Resolved, That the principles enunciated in the platform adopted were an outspoken and truthful exposition of the views of the whole Republican Party; that, whether read in Ohio, Pennsylvania, or New-York, it means precisely what it says, thereby expressing upon the question of money the real views of the party that conquered treason by putting down rebellion, and which intends that all the promises of the nation made in the hour of our danger shall not be violated in the hour of our safety. [Applause.]

Resolved, That we enter upon the canvass with every possibility of success, encouraged to believe that a united and determined effort upon our part will result in the restoration of the Republican Party to power in the State of New-York.

The resolutions were adopted with cheers. Mr. Charles S. Spencer said: Mr. Chairman, one of the members of this committee, with whom we have been very pleasantly associated for some considerable time, is about to leave us for the discharge of the duties of an appointment which he has received from the President, and I have thought it an appropriate and pleasant thing to prepare and offer the following resolution:

Resolved, That the members of the Republican Central Committee of the City of New-York have with great pleasure learned of the appointment of one of our number by the President of the United States, Mr. Nathan G. Newitter, of the Twentieth Assembly District, as Consul to Japan, and that he has our warmest and most earnest good wishes for his success and happiness in his new field of labor.

Mr. Darling said: I have great pleasure in seconding that resolution, and in testifying to the unwavering zeal with which Mr. Newitter has always discharged his duties as a member of the Republican Association, both in this committee and in his Assembly District. His appointment is well deserved at the hands of the President, and I am satisfied that he will not only reflect credit on himself in his new field of labor, but also on this association, and on the Republican Party of the City and State. He is a young man, and has proved himself to be a very active, untiring, and working Republican, and it is certainly a source of very great gratification to the Republican young men not only in this State but through the country to know that the President of the United Unites is ready to recognize the service and fitness of our young men to fill these important positions as our national representatives abroad. The report was adopted.

Mr. Spencer said: Mr. Chairman, as we do not meet again until October, I move that a committee of one be appointed from each Assembly District by the Chair to determine upon a ratification meeting. I would like, at this early stage of the campaign, our opponents should distinctly understand that we propose to make a fight this Fall, and that we expect to succeed, and we ought to have a ratification meeting at such time and place as shall be determined upon by the committee. It requires some little time to perfect the arrangements for a meeting of that description; but that could be left entirely to the committee. I move, Sir, now—and I think it will meet a hearty response from this committee as approving of the nominees and platform of the convention—that a committee of one be appointed by the Chair for the purpose of holding a ratification meeting.

The resolution was adopted and the committee will be appointed by the Chair in a day or two. On motion it was determined that the officers of the association should be added to the committee when approved.

A LARGE MEETING IN THE TWENTY-FIRST ASSEMBLY DISTRICT.

A large and enthusiastic meeting of the members of the Twenty-first Assembly District Republican Association was held last evening in Third avenue, near One Hundred and Twenty-sixth street. Mr. J. G. McMurray presiding. The Chairman briefly called the attention of the meeting to the necessity and importance of unity of action among the Republican voters of the district, and pointed out the great service which the young men who composed the organization could render the Republican cause during the present campaign. He was followed by the Vice President of the association, Mr. J. C. Langbein, who delivered a spirited address. Mr. Charles Abbott then addressed the meeting. He dwelt at much length upon the importance of having the young men of the Republican Party come forward during the present campaign and take an active part in the work of preparing for the approaching election. The old men of the party, he said, were no doubt honest and well-meaning, but he thought the time had arrived when the young men of the City and State of New-York should throw themselves in real earnest into the contest. There was an adage which said that old men were for counsel and young men for war, and while they should be guided by the wisdom and discretion of those who were older and who possessed a wider range of experience, the young men should bear in mind that upon their exertions and the zeal with which they entered upon the work before them in the present canvass, the success of the Republican cause depended. Next to the worship of their God came the duty of exercising well and faithfully the powers conferred upon every citizen by the elective franchise.

Mr. James M. Gray spoke upon the importance of bringing the Republican voters of the district into harmony, so that all should act together in the interest of the Republican Party during the campaign. He urged upon the members the necessity of giving their undivided support to the candidates having the indorsement of the Republican Central Committee. Speeches were also delivered by Mr. William Howe and others, and the meeting then adjourned.

OSWALD OTTENDORFER SPEAKS.

HIS VIEWS ON THE APPROACHING ELECTION—STATE AND MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS—THE BEST MEN TO BE SUPPORTED FOR LOCAL OFFICES.

A reporter of THE TIMES had a conversation with Mr. Oswald Ottendorfer, yesterday, in reference to the course to be adopted in the approaching elections of that portion of the German element in our population of which he is the acknowledged head. Mr. Ottendorfer spoke freely as to the course to be pursued by the independent Germans. They would, he said, support the State ticket adopted at Syracuse; not that they approved of all the candidates there nominated, but as Democrats the platform adopted met with their approval, and in State matters they felt bound to support the general ticket. In municipal affairs, however, they did not feel bound by party ties. He thought that the City should be governed by the best men that could be had, irrespective of party. Politics should not enter into the contest, and candidates should be selected for their known fitness for the office, and for their honesty and integrity. He went to Syracuse, he said, solely for the purpose of protesting against the admission of the Tammany delegations to the convention, as he claimed that they did not represent the Democracy of the City. He did not accuse, he said, the present leaders of Tammany Hall of personal dishonesty, but the organization itself was dishonest and corrupt, and if not cast overboard by the people the City Treasury will again come into the hands of thieves and robbers. The party which he represented comprised, he believed, the majority of the Germans, and as far as he was informed they were prepared to adopt such action as the General Committee should recommend. Their organization was in good working order in each Assembly district, and directions were given yesterday for holding primary and district conventions. There were, of course, he said, a good many Germans who would be found voting the Tammany ticket. Place-holders or expectant place-holders would be on their side, and the majority of the German Catholics, who comprise one-third of the whole number of Germans in the City, would, no doubt, be influenced to support John Kelly. He was, however, confident that the majority of the Germans will be found on the right side. As an independent organization, they did not, he said, propose to nominate candidates. They were too weak to do that, but they will make up a ticket of their own from the candidates to be nominated by each party, selecting the best men from each. If Tammany Hall should place a good man on their ticket, it was quite possible that his [Mr. Ottendorfer's] party would support that nomination. If either or both parties submitted the names of their candidates in the first instance to their organization, the respective parties would be informed what candidates would be supported and what opposed. If neither the Republican nor Tammany Hall committee consulted with the German organization, and chose to make up their tickets irrespective of them, then in that case all they could do would be to select the best men from each side and vote for them. They were, he said, willing to co-operate with all anti-Tammany organizations, and to meet them in consultation, but he confessed that many of the leaders of what are known as the anti-Tammanyists were quite as corrupt and disreputable as any to be found in the ranks of Tammany.

THE WEST FARMS MURDER.

ARREST OF TWO NEGROES ON SUSPICION—GROUNDS FOR BELIEVING THEM TO BE THE ASSASSINS.

Two colored men were arrested last night, and are now locked up at the Thirty-fourth Precinct Station-house, on suspicion of having been concerned in the murder of the peddler whose remains were found on Sunday morning in Lydig Woods, near the village of Bronxdale. The negroes were arrested by Detective McGowan, of the Nineteenth Precinct, who found them on the Boston road, near West Farms village. They bear a strong resemblance to two of the three negroes who were seen in company with the unknown peddler on Friday morning. These men spoke to the peddler as though they were acquainted with him, and he shared the crackers and cheese which he had just purchased at a neighboring grocery store with them. There is scarcely a doubt that these negroes waylaid the unfortunate peddler and murdered and robbed him. By direction of Inspector Thorne, of the Third District, the detectives from the Twelfth, Nineteenth, Twenty-third, and Thirty-third Precincts have been at work on the case, acting in conjunction with Detective Buckbee, of the Thirty-fourth Precinct, and the whole country within many miles of the place where the body of the murdered man was found has been thoroughly searched by mounted policemen. The negroes who were seen with the peddler can be identified by a number of respectable persons. They were seen on Thursday morning last tramping in the direction of New-Rochelle, and on Friday morning were noticed by several persons in conversation with the peddler, and they were overheard to ask him if he was going to New-York, the unfortunate man replying in the affirmative. The negroes then went down the Boston Road in the direction of Lydig's woods, and the peddler took up his pack and followed them. They all disappeared at the bend in the road where the woods commence, and the peddler was not seen again alive. The negroes were, however, seen about an hour afterward by a gentleman driving along the road as they were emerging from the woods about five hundred feet from the spot where the remains were subsequently found. This gentleman noticed the negroes particularly and is positive that he can identify them should they be arrested. On the person of one of the negroes now under arrest was found an old greasy pocket-book, which bears a great resemblance to the one seen in the possession of the peddler when he paid for the crackers and cheese, and his companion had in his pocket several spools of cotton similar to those found in the peddler's pack. The negroes will be brought forward to-day for identification. The inquest will be held on Thursday, by Coroner Miller, at the Tremont Police Station.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP.

Rev. Sylvanus Cobb thus writes in the Boston Christian Freeman: We would by no means recommend any kind of medicine which we did not know to be good—particularly for infants. But of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup we can speak from knowledge; in our own family it has proved a blessing indeed, by giving an infant troubled with colic pains, quiet sleep, and its parents unbroken rest at night. Most parents can appreciate these blessings. Here is an article which works to perfection, and which is harmless; for the sleep which it affords the infant is perfectly natural, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." And during the process of teething its value is incalculable. We have frequently heard mothers say they would not be without it from the birth of the child till it had finished with the teething siege, on any consideration whatever. Sold by all druggists.

A COUNCIL OF DOCTORS.

A SPECIAL MEETING OF THE STATE HOMEOPATHIC MEDICAL SOCIETY—CHARGES AGAINST DR. HORACE M. PAINE—DISCUSSION REGARDING THE MIDDLETOWN ASYLUM.

At the suggestion of a committee composed of Drs. Henry D. Paine, Samuel Swan, Alfred K. Hills, M. Smith, and Joseph Finch, who were appointed by the Homeopathic Medical Society of the County of New-York, a special meeting of the State Society was called to take some action in regard to the act of the late Legislature in changing the charter of the Middletown Asylum. As the regular semi-annual meeting of the State Society was to occur on the 22d inst., to-day, it was thought expedient to call the special meeting for the 21st, which would not necessitate a separate journey by the distant members of the society who wished to attend both meetings. The meeting was convened at 10 o'clock, Dr. A. W. Holden, of Glen's Falls as President of the society taking the chair. He made a short address, recapitulating the causes which led to the calling of this meeting, saying that a proper prelude to the action of the body, and the questions which they were to discuss, would be a short history of the Middletown Insane Asylum. This history he gave, and then stated that, besides the petition from the New-York County Society asking for this special meeting, he had also received a similar one from the Westchester County Society, signed by seven of its members.

There were present about one hundred persons in all, twenty of whom were delegates from county societies. Dr. Paine then read a summary of the report of the committee appointed by the New-York County Society, which gave a brief digest of the facts obtained by them while carrying on their investigation of the means and motives by and for which the Legislature last Winter took the action that it did. This paper made formal charges against Dr. Horace M. Paine, of Albany, the Chairman of their Committee on Legislation, who, it said, had been the leader in the movement which culminated in the action of the Legislature last Winter. At this stage of the proceedings Dr. Allen made a motion that the meeting go into a committee of the whole and that they take immediate action upon the matter and report immediately, which was carried. After considerable debate, which was participated in by Drs. A. R. Morgan, A. B. Conger, E. M. Kellogg, Carroll Dunham, John F. Gray, F. L. Vincent, S. S. Guy, W. S. Searle, and J. C. Ninner, it was resolved to appoint a subcommittee, whose duty it shall be to investigate the recent action of the Legislature toward the State Homeopathic Insane Asylum at Middletown; to determine the importance of the charges that have been made; to take whatever action may be necessary in the matter, and report at the next annual meeting of the society. Drs. Gray, Dunham, and the President of the board were appointed as such committee. During this discussion the following letter was read from Fletcher Harper, Jr., who is the President of the Board of Trustees of the insane asylum. It reads as follows:

> In reply to your question as to the effect produced by the recent change in the Board of Trustees of the Homeopathic Insane Asylum at Middletown, I would say, that it has been in every respect of great benefit. Although entirely ignorant of the proposed change until it was effected, and disposed at first to withhold my sanction of it I am now fully convinced that it was a wise movement. A quorum of the board can now be always had, and the various committees have no difficulty in getting together and transacting their business with dispatch. This could not be the case unless a number of the Trustees resided in and near Middletown, as is now the case.
> I am glad also to say that the new members of our board are gentlemen of energy and standing, and seem to be animated by the one desire to make this institution a model of its kind, and to resist any and all attempts to divert it from its present system of management. You may be sure that if any such change were even hinted at, I should not be silent. Very truly yours, FLETCHER HARPER, JR.

After this letter was read, Dr. Conger made a very forcible argument in favor of taking immediate action in regard to the clause of the charter which was stricken out, and which reads, "adherents of homeopathy," and relates to the persons who are eligible to the office of Trustee. He was repeatedly applauded, and the following resolution, which he introduced at the conclusion, was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That in view of the recent action of the State Legislature in regard to the State Homeopathic Asylum at Middletown, the society declare—

First—That subversion of the rights of the homeopaths of this State and country, who were subscribers to the private funds of the asylum and who were the virtual donors of the property to the State, has been thereby effected.

Second—That the State, in accepting two hundred acres of land, and undertaking to add to the private foundation of the asylum a munificent donation, nevertheless bound itself in good faith to conserve forever the clause in the charter that all further vacancies should be filled by those who are adherents of homeopathy.

Third—That the nomination of four laymen from the locality who are non-adherents of homeopathy and the present constitution of the board by a majority of allopaths, was a practical violation of the charter.

Fourth—That the interests of the asylum the only chartered institution in the State, nation, or world, demand that the Trustees be representative men in the ranks of homeopathy throughout the State.

Fifth—That it is the duty of all adherents of homeopathy throughout the State to urge upon the members elect of the next Legislature the duty of the State to regain its good faith toward the fraternity in the repeal of the clause, "proper persons," as designating the character of the persons from whom Trustees designed to fill vacancies are to be selected, and restore the old adherents of homeopathy.

After this Dr. Dunham presented the following resolutions, which were also unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the special committee just appointed be and they are hereby instructed to lay before the Legislature at the beginning of its next session the resolutions adopted by the State society, together with a memorial setting forth the injustice done to the homeopaths of the State by the act of the last Legislature relating to the State Insane Asylum, and requesting the restitution in the charter of the clause requiring that the Trustees be adherents of homeopathy.

Resolved, That until that committee report to the State Society on the charges against Dr. H. M. Paine, he be and is hereby suspended from the responsible position which he now holds as Chairman of the Committee on Legislation.

The meeting then adjourned to to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock, when the routine business of the society will be transacted, and scientific papers read and discussed.

At the close of the meeting an invitation was read from the Medical Board of the Homeopathic Hospital on Ward's Island, inviting them to visit that institution and partake of a luncheon. About one hundred persons embarked upon the steamer belonging to the Commissioners of Charities and Correction at the foot of Twenty-sixth street, North River, and arrived at the island about 3 o'clock. Among the gentlemen present were Mayor Wickham, Commissioners Bailey and Brennan, Salem H. Wales, ex-Judge Henry Hilton, Rev. O. B. Frothingham, Edmund Dwight, R. L. Lyon, Sinclair Tousey, John Fitch, H. L. Slote, A. J. Stewart, Mayor Hunter, of Brooklyn; Drs. W. L. R. Perrine, E. J. Whitney, W. S. Searle, D. A. Gorton, S. S. Gay, William Wright, P. P. Wells, W. H. Hanford, Ward C. Pardee, G. P. Newcomb, J. L. Keep, and A. Sumner, of Brooklyn; H. D. Brown, of Binghamton; C. H. Billings, of Cohoes; H. V. Miller and William H. Hawley, of Syracuse; H. R. Stiles, of the Middletown Asylum; P. L. Brown, S. A. Jones, C. A. Bacon, P. S. Verdi, A. S. Ball, W. H. White, J. H. Ostrom, St. Clair Smith, A. P. Thorp, W. P. Helmuth, P. Arculanus, G. B. Belcher, A. K. Hills, Arthur P. Hills, J. D. Bradford, F. S. Bradford, H. B. Millard, Alexander Burghaus, J. W. Dowling, J. T. S. Smith, George Beakley, C. V. Miller, H. C. Houghton, B. Robinson, T. C. Schley, L. L. Danforth, G. B. Gilbert, C. A. Beebe, C. A. Campbell, S. C. Brown, J. R. White, S. H. Talcot, J. H. Wellsman, E. D. Jones, George F. Foot, J. S. Page, and J. H. Thompson, of this City.

Dr. Guernsey and Dr. Lilienthal welcomed the guests, and Mayor Hunter, Isaac H. Bailey, Dr. McDonald, and Rev. O. B. Frothingham responded for the company in appropriate speeches.

About two hundred persons assembled at the Ophthalmic Hospital building, at the corner of Twenty-third street and Third avenue, to celebrate the semi-centennial anniversary of the introduction of homeopathy into the country. Dr. John F. Gray, the only pioneer practitioner left among those who practiced in this City prior to 1834, occupied the chair, with Dr. Joslin, President of the New-York County Relief Society, and Dr. Perrin, President of the Queens County Society, as Vice Presidents. The proceedings lasted until about 10:30 o'clock. Many interesting facts were narrated by several speakers, among whom were Drs. Gray, Wells, and Dowling, and also by Mr. Edward Bill. Dr. Conger read a poem on homeopathy, by Holmes, and an answer to it, by Dunham, and Dr. Smith read the following letter from William Cullen Bryant:

> CUMMINGTON, Mass., Sept. 16, 1875.
>
> To Dr. Henry M. Smith, Chairman, &c., &c.: DEAR SIR: I thank your committee for the invitation with which I am honored to take part in the ceremonies commemorating the introduction of homeopathy into this country. I cannot be present, but I take this occasion to express my entire sympathy with those who celebrate that event. I was an early convert to that mode of medical practice, which I at first, like many others, scoffed at, and then became convinced of its efficacy by experiences which could not be explained away. Thirty-four years have only confirmed my confidence in that method of cure. I am glad to see so many evidences of its progress in the good opinion of the community. Its history is one of successful combats with prejudices—honest prejudices, no doubt, but foolish when maintained against the evidence of actual experiment—a history of hostile predictions contradicted and disappointed by the rapid growth of the system, by its spread from town to town and from village to village, by the establishment of homeopathic hospitals and colleges, and by its introduction into the universities and other seats of learning.
>
> I cannot but share in the pleasure which the friends of the system experience in these triumphs, nor can I help numbering them among the tokens that the system has its foundation in nature and truth.
>
> I am, Sir, with great regards, your obedient servant,
> WILLIAM C. BRYANT.

THE INSURANCE CONVENTION.

APPOINTMENT OF STANDING COMMITTEES—REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON LEGISLATION—RESOLUTIONS PROPOSED AND LAID OVER FOR DISCUSSION.

The Convention of Insurance Commissioners and Superintendents met again yesterday at Underwriters' Hall, No. 156 Broadway, Mr. Chapman presiding. The Secretary, Mr. Pillsbury, having read the minutes of the previous meeting, the Executive Committee reported that the following States were represented, in addition to those already named: Maine, by Joshua Nye; Indiana, by John A. Finch, and Tennessee, by M. B. Howell, making the entire representation consist of ten delegates. In addition to these there were several insurance men from this City in attendance. The Chairman next announced the appointment of the following Committees.

On Blanks for Annual Statements—Messrs. Root Rhodes, Nye, Pillsbury, Welch.

On Assets and Investments—Messrs. Nye, Rhodes, Welch, Finch, Howell.

On Rate of Mortality, Rate of Interest and Reinsurance Liability—Messrs. Smith, Pillsbury, Forster, Finch, Howell.

On Liquidation—Messrs. Smith, Root, Rhodes, Nye, Finch.

On Miscellaneous Questions—Messrs. Rhodes, Smith, Howell, Root, Forster.

The appointment of a Committee on Taxation, Deposit and Fees was postponed until this morning. On motion, the privileges of the floor were extended to all insurance men.

Commissioner Smith suggested that the Chairman call upon the standing committees to report. The Chairman said that the old committees no longer existed, and the only ones empowered to report were those just appointed. As the Committee on Legislation was nearly the same as the old one, however, he would ask Commissioner Smith if he was prepared to report. Mr. Smith said that he had prepared a report which he was ready to submit to the convention. It was in a crude shape and should be carefully considered before being acted upon. He did not agree with all that the report contained, as many of the subjects treated of were merely inserted for the purpose of bringing out discussion.

The Chairman said that the report when read would be sent back to the committee for consideration and amendment. Commissioner Smith here read the report, which consisted of a rough draft of a general insurance law, after which the Chairman suggested that those who intended to address the convention should give their names and the purport of their respective addresses to the Executive Committee.

Commissioner Robb offered the following:

Resolved, As the sense of this convention, that the present practice of life and fire insurance companies in loaning money on the stock of other life and fire insurance companies as collateral, is erroneous and should be abandoned.

The resolution was laid upon the table. It will be taken therefrom before the convention adjourns, and be dealt with.

Commissioner Rhodes offered the following resolution, which was also laid upon the table for future discussion:

Resolved, That the enactment of stringent building laws for the protection of our cities and larger towns is a matter of first importance, and that it is the duty of the heads of insurance departments to urge upon the Legislatures of their respective States the necessity for immediate action in this direction.

The convention then adjourned to noon to-day.

THE PROBLEMS OF RAPID TRANSIT.

THE COMMISSION'S REGULAR SESSION—DISCUSSION OF IMPORTANT SUBJECTS.

The Rapid-transit Commissioners held an afternoon session yesterday in the City Hall building. The meeting was for the purpose of hearing certain gentlemen explain their plans, also to discuss the fifth section of the Rapid-transit act. The first speaker was Mr. Morgan, of Bloomington, Ill., whose plan is known as that of the Gothic Arch Elevated Railway. Mr. Morgan wishes to build his own structure. He has two plans which he thinks will cover the entire City. One is adapted for narrow and one for wide streets. Mr. Morgan's idea is to use the Gothic arch for the wider streets and avenues, and the post elevated plan for the narrower ones. Mr. Kirkup also furnished the commission with prolific advice. The main idea advanced by this gentleman was that the better way to build an elevated railway was to adopt his plan, and to permit him to put down granite foundations. Mr. Courtright presented some additional plans, which were, however, merely technical in their nature.

The duties of the commission, as defined by section 5, were discussed at length. This section provides that the commission must, within ninety days after their organization, decide upon the plan or plans for the construction of the railways, with the necessary appliances, upon the route or routes and in the locations determined by them. The question with the Commissioners is whether, under this section, they will have to determine just how many and where telegraph-poles shall be erected, just how far apart the stations shall be situated, and so on. The opinion of counsel was taken on the subject. The attorney for the commission was of opinion that plans should be made as definite as possible, at least so as to be practicable. The commission could not possibly enter into all those details of construction within the allotted time, but the counsel thought they could fix upon a practical plan. For instance, they could decide that stations should be not more than half a mile apart.

The safety of an elevated railway was also discussed. As a safeguard against possible accidents it has been proposed that trains, instead of running over the top girders, as is the case in Greenwich street, shall run between the girders at the bottom. It is claimed that the girders would then serve to prevent the cars from falling from the track should any accident occur. Objections are offered to this because of the expense, although it is understood the Commissioners believe the plan a good one. The commission has until Oct. 5 in which to fix upon plans and all the details prescribed by the charter. For a while it was thought they would get through this week, but they have been so much interrupted by people with theories, and by persons with patents, that they cannot possibly adjourn before next week. The question of cost is also under discussion. At first it was thought probable that the cost of an elevated structure would not exceed that of the new Greenwich street extension, or in round numbers about $300,000 per mile for a double track road. The commission are, however, so anxious that the road should be complete in every respect, at least as far as practicable, that the amount may be swelled to $450,000. Mr. Navarro, who is understood to be one of the strongest advocates of the Gilbert plan, says the cost of three tracks on Sixth avenue would be not less than $750,000 per mile. However, it is questionable if three tracks are needed, at least for some time to come. The Commissioners say that should the traffic demand more than two tracks in this thoroughfare a third can be added with but little trouble.

PETER DEWEY'S FAMILY TROUBLES.

A STORY OF LOVE ON SHIPBOARD—A WOMAN WITH TWO HUSBANDS, AND A SCENE IN A POLICE COURT.

An assault and battery case which came up for hearing before Justice Walsh, in Brooklyn, yesterday, revealed during the examination a curious and interesting story of matrimonial troubles. The complainant in the case was a Mr. Price, and the defendant was one Ann Dewey. The principal witness against Mrs. Dewey was her husband, a Swede named Peter Dewey, who incidentally related in the course of his evidence the history of his married life. It appears that while on his way from Sweden to this country, about ten years ago, Dewey became acquainted on the emigrant ship with a buxom Irish girl named Ann Murphy. The acquaintance, although neither could speak the language of the other, ripened into friendship, and before the conclusion of the voyage, into love. Immediately after arriving in New-York they were married, and took up their residence in a tenement-house in this City. Dewey was employed for a time in a sugar refinery, but being a sailor he soon tired of work on land, and went back to his old profession. He engaged in the coasting business, and was never absent for any lengthened time from home. His married life was most happy, but necessity compelled him to ship for a long sea voyage, which extended over eighteen months. During that period he held no communication with his wife, and she, thinking that he was dead, married a young man named Burke, whom she had known in the days of her girlhood in Ireland. Soon after the marriage Dewey returned and claimed his wife. Mr. Burke made no objection, and the first husband, determined never more to go to sea, opened a second-hand furniture shop in Navy street, where he lived happily and prospered in business for several years. About fifteen months ago Mrs. Dewey took to strong drink, and as a consequence, brought misery on her husband's household. Dewey tried every means to reform her in vain, and at length, a short time ago, by mutual consent they separated, both signing the paper of separation. He gave her the furniture store and $300 cash, and beside allowed her the custody of a little girl, who was their only living child. Mrs. Dewey celebrated the separation by going on a drunken spree with the man Burke. Desiring to get a ring from her husband, she called at his residence in Bridge street, but was refused admittance by Mr. Price, the proprietor of the house. Becoming infuriated she pushed open the door and assaulted Price, for which he had her arrested. After hearing all the facts Justice Walsh found the woman guilty, and sent her to the Penitentiary for sixty days. She cried bitterly on being taken away, and made a pathetic appeal to the Judge to be given a chance to reform.

THE SULLIVAN ABDUCTION.

A REWARD OFFERED FOR THE CHILD'S RECOVERY.

THE THEORY OF DROWNING NOT BELIEVED BY THE FATHER OF THE MISSING BOY—CIRCUMSTANCES OF THE DISAPPEARANCE—WHY THE CHILD IS THOUGHT TO HAVE BEEN ABDUCTED.

Mr. Dennis Sullivan, whose boy Joseph, aged three years and a half, mysteriously disappeared on Wednesday last, has offered a reward of $500 for his recovery. The circumstances of the disappearance, already mentioned in the columns of the TIMES, are as mysterious and unaccountable as those of the abduction of Charley Ross, and from their similarity bring that celebrated case forcibly to mind. On Wednesday last the boy was playing on the sidewalk in front of his father's store and dwelling, at No. 412 Greenwich street, at 1 o'clock in the afternoon. At 1:05 o'clock his father's clerk spoke to him at the door, and that was the last time he is known to have been seen by any one who knew him. The little fellow had been allowed by his mother to go out to play for a while, and she thought nothing of his absence for more than an hour. Then, thinking it time for him to return to take his usual afternoon sleep, she went down to the walk to look for him. Being unable to find him she called on her husband to help her. Mr. Sullivan made a search in the neighborhood, and went around to his stable in Washington street, in the rear of his store, whither the boy sometimes went, but could not find him. Becoming alarmed he visited the Central Police Office, thinking it possible that the boy might have strayed away and been cared for by the Police. No news of the missing one was obtained either at the Central Office or the stations, and a "general alarm" was sent out from the Central Office. It read as follows:

> "Look for Joseph Sullivan, three and a half years old, light complexion and hair, gray eyes, scar on nose, gingham apron and collar, gray plaid dress, red shirt, no hat, laced shoes metal-tipped."

This description, although perhaps sufficient for identification, is supplemented by information given by the parents, who say that the child was very intelligent for his age, and of a sturdy disposition, although not wild. He readily understands whatever is said to him, and will tell his name when asked, as well as the street he lives in, although he does not know the number. The Police, although the alarm was sent out, were inclined at first to consider it useless, as their theory was that the boy had wandered down to the river side and fallen into the water unnoticed. This idea was not accepted by Mr. Sullivan, as, aside from the natural reluctance of a parent to believe such a thing possible, his knowledge of the child disposed him to think it had been carried away. If the boy had strayed away as children do, wandering often three or four miles before the Police notice them, he would certainly have been picked up somewhere unless he had met with his death. If such an accident had occurred by any other means than drowning, it would with equal certainty have come to the knowledge of the Police. The alternative was therefore presented of believing in the drowning theory or that the child had been carried away. Joseph was known to have a fear of crossing the street, and had never been known to cross alone, never having gone further from home than to his father's stable in Washington street. He was not of a disposition which would incline him to go on such an expedition as some children are fond of making, but always stayed around the door when playing. Further than this, he was known to have a fear of the water, and would not have been likely to stay beside the river if he had gone in that direction; and even if he had, the docks in the immediate neighborhood are better protected than usual by fences and railings, and the probability of such an accident is proportionately decreased. Therefore Mr. Sullivan refused to accept the theory of the Police.

There were circumstances, aside from this line of argument, which inclined him to think that the boy had been taken away. In the first place he was very fond of horses, and was always delighted to have the opportunity to ride from his father's store to his stable, or from the stable to the store, so that Mr. Sullivan thinks that it would have been easy for any one to entice him into a wagon. Besides this, two persons had vowed revenge on the father, one of them menacing him with the operations of thieves, and on the day when Joseph disappeared Mrs. Driscoll and Mrs. Smith, both living at No. 410 Greenwich street, saw three rough-looking fellows hanging about the neighborhood, apparently watching No. 412, and a boy named O'Brien saw two men of similar description talking with the Sullivan boy at about the time he disappeared.

The circumstances of the threats were as follows: The farmers who drive into the City at night for the purpose of disposing of their vegetables and truck early in the morning are authorized by an old City ordinance to place their wagons anywhere along the sides of the streets, within 300 yards of the market, on payment of a tax of twenty-five cents for each wagon. The trade, however, has far outgrown the space named, and the streets for a number of blocks, in every direction from the market, are lined every morning with the farmers' wagons. The tax is regularly collected, the City thereby virtually sanctioning what is really a violation of law, as no adequate provision has been made by the law for the enormous business. The presence of the wagons is, however, a detriment to the interests of many of the merchants in the neighborhood, who, like Mr. Sullivan, have to deliver goods over their sidewalks, and who wish to bring their own wagons before their doors. This leads to occasional disputes, as the farmers are loath to give up their positions, even for a few minutes, to accommodate the merchants whom they are discommoding, and the merchants naturally insist on their rights. When these disputes grow serious the merchants have the advantage, as the law is on their side. Mr. Sullivan has been especially discommoded by the custom described, as he is obliged to send bulky goods to his customers in his wagon or lose their trade. He has put up with no little inconvenience to avoid open collision with the farmers, frequently carrying and making his clerks carry tubs of butter and other weighty articles for a long distance to his wagon, rather than make the farmer in front of his store move away. He has, however, on several occasions insisted on his rights, and has called on the Police to make the farmer move. During last month the dispute grew so violent that Mr. Sullivan had the farmer arrested and taken to the Tombs, where the latter was obliged to pay a fine of $10 for doing what he paid the City to be allowed to do. Undaunted by this the farmer again took the same position the next morning, and when ordered to move on was reinforced by the official whose duty it is to collect the twenty-five cent tax. Mr. Sullivan again called on the Police, and the farmer was again compelled to move on. This roused the anger of the Collector, who threatened to get square with Sullivan. Another person, known as "Dan," who is employed by the farmers as a carrier, also threatened Sullivan, saying that he knew all the thieves in the ward, and that he would make Sullivan repent having robbed him of his means of livelihood. These things were to Mr. Sullivan's mind an indication of the probability that his child had been abducted, but, although he told the Police of them, they clung to the drowning theory, saying that the abduction of the child for the purpose of revenge was more improbable than that he should have fallen in the water.

Superintendent Walling was, however, shaken in his opinion yesterday. He said to a TIMES reporter that he was not inclined at first to think it was an abduction, but he had received information since which led him to believe that it may have been. What the information was he would not explicitly say, but he said that he had learned of a boy who was being taken away in a wagon by two men, and from the description he considered it likely that the boy was Joseph Sullivan. He had sent two men from the Central Office to work up the clue, and could not tell when he would have a report from them. If there had really been an abduction, he considered it very unlikely that it was undertaken for the purpose of extorting money, for not only would a child of richer parents have been chosen, but the utter failure of Mosher and Douglass in their attempt to obtain money from Mr. Ross would be likely to deter any one from attempting a similar deed. If this was an abduction, it was probably instigated by a desire for revenge.

A WOMAN WITH THREE HUSBANDS.

Smith W. Post, of Evergreen avenue, Brooklyn, obtained some time ago a warrant for the arrest of Frances Post, on a charge of bigamy. The case was to have been heard before Justice Semler yesterday, but, owing to the illness of the defendant, it was put off for a week. The facts connected with the case are rather curious. Ten years ago Post married a young girl named Frances Baker, with whom he lived a short time. After they had separated she became acquainted with a car conductor, named Mitchell, whom she married, first telling him of her marriage with Post, and, as she alleges, being advised by Post to marry Mitchell. The latter became tired of his wife, as did her first husband, and she was again deserted in a few months. She next assumed the rôle of widow, and, being possessed of more than ordinary personal attractions, soon found a suitor in the person of a wealthy young man named Curtis. To Curtis she told the story of her previous marriages, but he, nothing daunted, advised her to procure a divorce, and furnished the money for that purpose. A divorce suit was commenced by her in the Supreme Court of this city against Smith W. Post, on April 8, 1873. Both parties were anxious that the divorce should be granted, but the case dragged along without reaching any conclusion for over a year. Curtis, becoming impatient, induced Mrs. Mitchell to become Mrs. Curtis, whereupon Post had a warrant issued for the arrest of his wife on a charge of bigamy. Her friends claim that Post only instituted the proceedings to obtain money from Curtis. Curtis, however, when he heard that a warrant had been issued for his newly-married wife, disappeared, and has not since been heard from.

TWO BURGLARS CAPTURED.

PART OF THE GANG OF MASKED ROBBERS ARRESTED IN THIS CITY.

Between 11 and 12 o'clock on the night of Aug. 9, a burglary was committed at the residence of Mr. Peter Germond, at New-Hartford, Oneida County, N. Y., by a gang of burglars, who succeeded in robbing the house. The gang of burglars, masked and well armed, surrounded the house after the family had retired for the night, and forced their way into the dwelling. Mr. Germond was taken from his bed, gagged and handcuffed, and laid on the floor, and one of the robbers was placed on guard over him with a revolver. He was threatened with instant death if he gave any alarm or made any outcry. The rest of the family were taken from their beds, driven into a small, dark room where they were locked in, while two of the gang stood on guard at the door. The house was thoroughly ransacked, and the gang no doubt expected to find a large sum of money, as they expressed forcibly their disappointment at finding only $180, which, with a silver watch, they carried off. The next day Mr. Germond informed Chief of Police Dwyer, of Utica, of the occurrence, and that officer lost no time in making a full investigation. He learned that John Welch, alias John Wallace, and John Sweetman, alias "Bucky" Malone, were concerned in the burglary. Acting upon this information, Mr. Germond appeared before Mr. Erastus Brooks, Recorder of the City of Utica, on Sept. 1, and made a complaint against Welch and Sweetman. A warrant for their arrest was issued and placed in the hands of Chief Dwyer for execution. Learning that the men he wanted had taken refuge in this City, Chief Dwyer came on here and consulted with Superintendent Walling, who promised to aid him to the full extent of his ability in finding these men. The case was placed in the hands of Detectives Von Gerichten, La Rue, Adams, and Lyon, of the Central Office, and a diligent search was made for the burglars. Last evening, while Von Gerichten and La Rue were watching the cars at Third avenue and Fourteenth street, looking for pickpockets, they noticed the men they had been in search of walking hurriedly along Third avenue. The detectives followed for a short distance and arrested them. Welch attempted to use his revolver, but Detective La Rue was too quick for him, and disarmed him before he could put his purpose into execution. Malone was also armed with a revolver fully loaded. The prisoners were brought to the Central Office and locked up. A telegram announcing their arrest was at once sent to Chief Dwyer, and he responded in person yesterday afternoon. He fully identified the prisoners as the men he wanted and for whose arrest the warrant was issued. The prisoners were taken before Justice Wandell, at the Washington Place Police Court, and were remanded to the custody of Chief Dwyer, who last evening started with his prisoners for Utica. Welch and Malone it is stated were concerned in a large number of burglaries committed on private residences in Utica, Rochester, Albany, and villages in their vicinity, by gangs of masked men during the past Summer. They are said to have been associates of "Billy" Conroy, the notorious burglar, recently pardoned by Gov. Tilden. Welch was formerly a member of the Police force of Utica, and while in that position is said to have constantly associated with Malone, Conroy, and other notorious thieves and burglars. Conroy, it is reported, has turned informer against his former companions, and through information given by him, Welch and Malone have been captured.

THE FIRE LADDER ACCIDENT.

TESTIMONY TAKEN BEFORE THE CORONER YESTERDAY—CHIEF ENGINEER BATES THINKS THE LADDER CAN BE USED WITH PERFECT SAFETY.

Coroner Croker yesterday resumed the inquest in the case of Chief of Battalion William H. Nash, and Firemen Maus and Hughes, who were killed by the breaking of the Marie Scott-Uda aerial fire ladder at Canal street and East Broadway. Thomas C. Lee, of No. 196 Division street, testified that he was a member of Hook and Ladder Company No. 9, and was the sixth or seventh man from the top of the ladder when it broke. There were nine men on the ladder, Nash being the leader. The witness never was instructed that only one man should be on a section at a time. The break occurred on the third section. Did not notice any quiver of the ladder before it broke; thought it was perfectly safe.

Eli Bates, Chief Engineer of the Fire Department, testified that by order of the Board of Commissioners he placed one of the aerial ladders in the Fourth Battalion, of which Nash was Chief; Nash requested permission to take the ladder out, as his men were not perfect in its use, and the witness consented; the ladder was brought on the ground, put together, and raised to an angle of about sixty degrees; Nash ascended with some of his men, and when forty feet from the ground, stopped and called out to the men to go down and raise the ladder higher. The front line was slackened, and the ladder raised to an angle of seventy-five degrees. He said that would do, and ascended the ladder, followed by the others. On looking up witness saw that some of the men had gone beyond the fifth section, and at once called on them to come down; that that would do. The witness considered that no man should go higher than the fifth section, or sixty feet. One man might go to the top providing there were no others on the ladder. The witness would not allow more than one man on the top, and frequently told Chief Nash that more than one man at the top was unsafe. The witness ordered the men down because they had ascended beyond the point he considered safe. The witness believed the cause of the break was the extended leverage and weight on the ladder. The witness then detailed previous experiments made with the ladder. He considered that the ladder could be used with perfect safety. At this stage the inquest was adjourned until to-day.

THE NEW-BRUNSWICK TRAGEDY.

PROF. GARLAND NOT DEAD YET—HOPES ENTERTAINED OF THE RECOVERY OF BOTH HUSBAND AND WIFE.

The report of the death of Prof. James Garland, who attempted to murder his wife at New-Brunswick, and then tried to kill himself, turns out to have been premature. It now appears that there is some slight possibility of his recovery. The physicians who were first summoned after the tragic occurrence found him in a comatose condition, which was mistaken for death. All their skill was directed to saving Mrs. Garland's life; and it was not until two other physicians arrived that the astonishing discovery was made that Garland still breathed. Every effort was then made to save him, and as soon as the pieces of skull which were pressing on his brain were removed consciousness returned. The flow of blood was stanched and the severed windpipe sewed up, after which he commenced to breathe with more ease, and was enabled to talk. He made an ante-mortem statement to Coroner Kibbe, and at the same time minutely detailed all the circumstances of the tragic affair. He declared that domestic and financial troubles, together with the prospect of being separated from his children, had prompted him to attempt his own life and that of his wife. At a late hour last night he was slightly improved, and a reasonable hope of his recovery is now entertained, unless inflammation should set in, which is not very probable, on account of the great loss of blood. Only one of the shots which he fired at himself took effect in his head, and the exact location of the bullet has not yet been ascertained. Mrs. Garland has been removed to the residence of her uncle, ex-Mayor Conover, and her condition is reported as slightly improved.

STATEN ISLAND FERRY TROUBLES.

At the beginning of the past season the Staten Island Ferry Company erected a pier alongside that of the Staten Island Railroad Company, at Stapleton. The law requires 100 feet of clear water between piers. Notice was served upon the company to remove the pier, and they refusing to obey suit was instituted to compel them. Judge Westbrook has just decided against them. At the beginning of the controversy the Pilot Commissioners informed the company that the law exacted a penalty of $25 per day during contumacy. Yesterday the Commissioners ordered suit to be commenced to recover the accumulated penalties.
